GIVES VIEW OF CHINESE PUZZLE

Brother of Louis Greiner Writes of Conditions In Nanking Zone

A clear picture of the Chinese situation is given by F. P. Greiner, secretary of the Anhwei mission of the Seventh-Day Adventist at Nanking, in a letter just received by his brother, Louis Greiner, of 329½ North Howard street.

"War has started in our province," he says, "but we are safe and there are two American warships stationed here at Nanking to protect the Americans in this city. The fighting has been going on here now for over a month and many have been killed and wounded. The Kiangsu casualties are being brougnt here and those of the Shekiang troops are being sent to Shanghai.

Powerful Leaders

"I suppose you receive a bit of news about this war but perhaps you would be interested in a short sketch of how things stand over here. In Manchuria there is a marshal by the name of Chang Tso Lin, who has many soldiers and is very rich. He has no use for the Peking government, which is supposed to control the country. The other marshal is Wu Pei Fu, who stands in with the Peking government, and is really its ruler.

"These two men are very powerful in China, Chang Tso Lin being so powerful that Russia had to make a separate treaty with him. Chang and Wu are deadly enemies.

All Mixed Up

Now then, as you know, South China has for some months been a separate government, under Sun Yat Sen. Then the Chekiang province of Kiangsu, whose capital is Nanking, where I am, claims to stand by Peking, but in reality there is no province in China which listens to Peking. So you can see what a mixed-up situation it is.

"From what we can learn, the Chinese troops are better trained and have more guns. They also have more airplanes than the Kiangsu troops, and what is more the Chekiang planes are French and are armed with machine guns.

Russian Pilots

"Some of the pilots are Russian. The Kiangsu troops are using old planes without machine guns, sold to them by the English.

"We see the planes fly every day and I have gone over to their airdrome many times to watch them fly. The other day one caught fire while in the air, but the pilot and observer got down safely. I went over to see the wreck and got a few pieces to show the children."

Japan Sends Troops to China to Protect Road

TOKIO, Oct. 24.—The Prince Regent approved today a war office order sending two battalions of troops from Port Arthur to Shan Hai Kuan for the protection of Japanese interests along the Peking-Mukden railroad which is owned by Japanese capital.

Tien Tsin dispatches reported stringent rules had been promulgated by Wu Pei Fu in this area for the conduct of Japanese nationals and the arrest of all, acting suspiciously, ordered.

Fierce Gale Rages Off Columbia River Mouth

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—A howling gale, blowing seventy-six miles an hour, was reported off the mouth of the Columbia river today by the North Head, Wash., weather station. Shipping is delayed and a number of ships wait inside the river mouth for the storm to subside. Storm warnings are flying at all Oregon and Washington coast points. Rain is predicted for western Oregon during the next twenty-four hours.

Wilbur Lauds Efforts Of Patriotic Societies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—In a letter to the chairman of the Patriotic Societies Advisory committee for National Defense, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur expressed appreciation today of the efforts of the societies in "combatting the evil influences which have been at work to prevent establishment and maintenance of the national defense." The chairman has written Wilbur offering the co-operation of the societies in plans for navy day.

Secretary Wallace Grows Worse After Operation Recently

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace, who was operated on a few days ago, took a turn for the worse today, and his condition was pronounced "serious" by Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, attending him.

"His condition is very serious," Dr. Boone said, "but we are still hopeful of recovery."

President Coolidge visited the naval hospital this morning in an effort to see Wallace, but his condition would not permit it. The president left his card and returned to the White House.

President's Talk to Business Men Marks Final Appeal Before Election

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—President Coolidge's speech to eastern business leaders here last night, in which he gave a comprehensive digest of the things he considers paramount in the triangular presidential campaign now drawing to a close, represents his final political effort in the campaign, it was said at the White House today.

For the duration of the campaign Mr. Coolidge will greet a few "back porch" delegations at the White House, write a few letters and counsel with his political advisers, but his Chamber of Commerce speech can be considered his "last word." On it he is willing to stake his chances at the polls ten days hence.

Prosperity Keynote

Prosperity and economy constituted not only the keynote, but the Alpha and Omega of the president's address. He professed profound satisfaction with business conditions as they now exist, claimed credit for the Republican party in bringing them about, and forecast a continuation of them only if the government is conducted along lines already laid down.

Mr. Coolidge did more than merely review the accomplishments of the Republican administration—he went further and afforded an illuminating insight into what may be expected to be the major policies of his administration during the next four years if it is returned to power.

Opponents Slapped

Without once mentioning his political opponents or their policies by name, he definitely took several well-directed slaps at them. He derided La Follette's advocacy of public ownership of railroads and utilities and answered John W. Davis' plea for greater American participation in European affairs, by stressing the prosperity that has come to the United States by following a policy of semi-isolation and independent action in foreign affairs.

U. S. Balks In Ruling On Tax Publications

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The question of whether it is or is not legal for newspapers to publish individual income tax returns, thrown open to public inspection under the new revenue law, was left suspended in mid-air today by unwillingness or inability of government officials to issue a definite ruling on the matter.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and some of his principal aides at the department expressed the opinion that publication of the returns is illegal, but other treasury officials held different views and expressed the private opinion that the revenue law of 1924 permitted the publication of income tax paid.

Borah Allowed $2,500 For Campaign Expense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Senator William E. Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the Senate campaign fund investigating committee, received $2,500 from the Republican senatorial committee for his campaign for re-election, according to a report filed today with the secretary of the Senate. Of this contribution Borah reported that $500 was turned back as not needed.

SHENANDOAH TRIES FOR RECORD

Giant Dirigible Goes On Homeward Trip; Seeks To Set New Mark

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 24.—Scheduled to try for speed records on the home stretch of its 7500-mile transcontinental flight, the navy dirigible Shenandoah cast off from its mooring mast here shortly before 11 o'clock this morning on the 1300-mile flight to Lakehurst, N. J.

The big air cruiser headed directly into a northeast course, passing over Dallas, thirty miles away, almost forty-five minutes after its departure from Fort Worth.

Over 200,000 cubic feet of helium was taken on during the night, several hundred pounds of additional food and 3000 gallons of gasoline for today's flight that will carry the ship north over Little Rock, Ark., Dayton, Ohio, and thence directly east to Lakehurst.

Delayed by Winds

Owing to the loss of 2700 gallons of gasoline, thrown overboard for altitude purposes on entering Texas, it was necessary to take on the unusually large shipment of fuel.

The big cruiser completed the San Diego-Fort Worth jump in 36 hours, a distance of 1400 miles. Strong head winds prevented the ship from making its "flying speed" at any time on the flight, and delayed arrival here.

In contrast to its first appearance two weeks ago, the airship was moored in exactly 41 minutes after reaching the field. On the initial trip over three hours were required in making a landing.

40,000 Majority Keeps Ontario Province Dry

OTTAWA, Oct. 24.—By a majority expected to total more than 40,000 Ontario today indicated it has sustained its temperance act in the election yesterday. The vote early today stood: For government control of liquor sales, 450,000; for continuance of the temperance act, 491,000.

An early analysis of the heated battle shows that it was a fight of the cities against the great farming and village populations. Urban Ontario voted heavily for control, but the farm vote overcame an early lead which the cities rolled up for the wets and swung the lead back in favor of the temperance act which the province has had for eight years.

Ontario stands a vast dry wedge between provinces that are wet. Whether the drys will consider the victory impressive enough to pursue the campaign, with the intention of bringing back other provinces which have returned to the wet ranks, was not known today.

Workman Is Injured On Theatre Building

Mecellino Faiz of North Glendale avenue was taken to the Glendale hospital at noon today, unconscious, following an accident at the West Coast theatre now under construction at 220 North Brand boulevard.

The accident was caused by the falling of a steel beam according to witnesses, Faiz being struck on the head. Dr. A. L. Munger of the Glendale Clinical group rendered first aid. An X-ray photograph will be taken to determine if the victim sustained a fractured skull, it is reported from the hospital.

M. Daeschner Approved As Ambassador to U.S.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—President Doumergue presided at a meeting of the French cabinet today which approved the appointment of M. Daeschner as French ambassador to the United States. He succeeds Jules Jusserand who was previously dean of the foreign diplomatic corps at Washington.

One Dead, $5,000,000 Loss In Coal Dock Fire

ESCANABA, Mich., Oct. 24.—Firemen from Escanaba and neighboring towns were still battling today with fire which broke out last night in the Reiss Coal company's docks, causing loss of one life and of property estimated by police at $5,000,000.

Coolidge Will Carry State of New Jersey Over Both Opponents

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 24.—New Jersey is not a doubtful state. There were circumstances under which it might have been. Perhaps, if La Follette had not entered the race, or if Al Smith had been the candidate, but, facing the situation as it is, President Coolidge will carry it by a majority over both candidates which may be from 50,000 up, though his lead over John W. Davis will be larger than that figure.

The days of McKinley and later of Roosevelt, when the manufacturers went down the line for the Republican party and persuaded their employes to vote the Republican ticket, will be recalled as one examines closely the situation in this state.

Critics might call it coercion or intimidation and defenders of the practice may say that only a small number of voters is affected by the persuasive arguments of employers, but nevertheless the various votes taken in factories and plants indicate that the working men have been scared away from La Follette and into the Coolidge camp with genuine effectiveness.

Strong For Coolidge

In a chemical plant in this section 301 votes were cast. All but one voted for Coolidge. The lone ballot was for La Follette. None was cast for Davis. Now these things sometimes happen in a small group where there is an opportunity for an argument to be made which will sway the group. But when it happens in large numbers it means that someone has told the workingmen why it is to their interest to vote a certain way.

The employer in question made no bones about it. He felt he did nothing more than exercise his American right to advise his employes how they ought to vote. And he sincerely believes that a vote for La Follette is a vote for chaos. He is convinced that an election thrown into the house of representatives means business uncertainty, the stoppage of credits and a general restraint which may mean shutting down his plant. Feeling that way, he wants La Follette beaten and Coolidge elected.

Bring Out Tariff

What happened in the plant referred to has been happening throughout the state. The writer heard the same story in industrial Trenton. It is quite common in manufacturing states on some occasions. But it did not happen to any extent in 1920, nor in 1916. This year the La Follette bogy has done more to stimulate the conservatives and the manufacturers generally than any one thing. The tariff has been trotted out as bearing upon the wages of the workmen and many of them are convinced they would be adversely affected if the tariff were tinkered with.

Apart from the strength of the Coolidge-Dawes ticket in manufacturing circles, the banks have gone into the campaign most energetically. Again, the fear of La Follette has been raised. Davis is not talked of. There is no antagonism to him. It simply is reiterated the safest way to vote is for Coolidge. Among professional men and others who think their pocketbooks may be affected by the throwing of the election into the house, the drift to Coolidge has been noticeable for several weeks.

Davis Loses Votes

But, while there are affirmative reasons why many voters are going to vote the Republican ticket, nationally there are negative reasons why many are not going to vote the Democratic ticket. In Hudson county, for instance, where the population is largely of Irish descent, the immediate reaction after the failure of the Madison Square Garden convention to nominate Al Smith

CHARGES OF EXTORTION REVEALED

Attorney and Two Former Police Officers Accused By Jury Indictment

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Charges of extortion of $850 from a party of motorists by an attorney and two former police officers were revealed today in the arrests of Byron M. Anderson, former police chief at Torrance; Stanley B. Abbott, former Torrance motor cycle officer, and E. U. Morewood, Hermosa Beach attorney.

The trio was to be arraigned today on the extortion charges, contained in a county grand jury secret indictment returned Tuesday, following their arrest early this morning.

After Abbott had had trouble with the motorists, who are said to have beaten him, Morewood was alleged to have intervened as the motorists were about to be arrested and accepted $850 to settle the affair.

Abbott, according to the officers, admitted that he received $150 of this amount, and it is charged that the remainder of the money was divided between Morewood and Anderson.

The motorists were originally arrested by W. G. Phillips, then a policeman and now chief of police at Torrance. After he had released them the trouble with Abbott followed, it was reported.

Anderson and Morewood were arrested at their homes. Abbott was picked up by Special Officer Charles Vonherala last night when he returned from a visit to Troy, N. Y.

Electric Guide Cable For Planes Possible

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The British air ministry now is experimenting with an electric guiding cable for aircraft, which may be the forerunner of definite aerial routes possible for night flying and flying through fog. The pilot, from instruments before him, would be able to tell when flying directly over the cable laid along the ground, and the device would automatically correct the direction of the flight of an aeroplane which was off the set route. With the completion of such a scheme it would be possible to establish air routes as definite as railroad lines.

FACES JAIL TERM

SANTA ANA, Oct. 24.—Abner Doble, Berkeley youth, who is said to have admitted doing seventy-eight miles an hour in one of his father's steam cars, faces six months in jail if he doesn't answer his citation, which called for his appearance in court Wednesday. Officers are after him.

For reading contents and fine workmanship this issue will surpass any publication that has ever been taken from any plant in Glendale. Order extra copies needed at once.

CHINA'S WAR LORD AIMS AT PEACE

Christian General Holding All Strategic Points Wants Army Republic

By JOHN GOOTE
For International News Service.

PEKING, Oct. 24.—Following the peaceful occupation of Peking by his forces, General Feng Yuh Siang, famous Christian general, issued a nation-wide proclamation today of his intention of forming a "citizens' army republic" in China with the object of preventing war.

Feng now holds all of the strategic points about Peking and along the Peking-Mukden railroad at Tien Tsin and Tong Shan. He insists that a presidential mandate be issued stopping the present war and the immediate calling of a conference to be held at Peking or Tien Tsin to take steps to prevent future conflicts.

The ancient Chihli capital remained quiet today. President Tsao Kun continued in office. No news had been received from Marshal Wu Pei Fu against whom General Feng revolted. Wu is on the Shan Hai Kuan front and communication has been interrupted with that section.

In an interview at his headquarters established in a barracks ten miles north of Peking, General Feng denounced today Wu Pei Fu for entering the war against Chang Tso Lin utterly unprepared after three years of complete control of the government.

"I refused to fight a useless war," said Feng, "in which the national army was unpaid and facing a winter in cotton clothes, half starved.

"No medical attention had been provided for the wounded, who were being left to freeze to death upon the battlefield."

Feng said re-organization of the "present corrupt government" was the aim of his revolt and he would continue his military occupation of the national capital until this was effected.

Worn Path Points Clue In Yale Student Murder

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 24.—A well-worn path from the Old Log road to the spot where the body of Henry E. M. Henry, Yale graduate, and former school teacher, of Ardmore, Pa., was found chained to a tree in the woodlands of Green mountain, near here yesterday, formed the only clue today to indicate the man was the victim of a fiendish murdered.

Because the woodlands are little frequented, the path at first was regarded highly significant and a gruesome theory was formed that the man may have been kidnaped by some person who bound him to the tree and then kept a close watch on him while he made frantic efforts to escape.

Steel Interests Plead Pittsburgh Plus Plan

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Members of the American Iron and Steel Institute, meeting here today were "beseeched" by Elbert H. Gary, president, to give the abolition of the Pittsburgh plus basis for iron and steel products every chance before attempting to reinstate the former method of making steel prices.

Judge Gary expressed doubt that the order of the Federal Trade, directing abandonment of the price-fixing method could have been upheld in the courts.

Mexican Bandits Slay, Rob American Citizen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Eugene Marcus Barnes, Jr., an American citizen, was killed by Mexican bandits on a road near La Palma, Vera Cruz, on October 21, according to dispatches received today by the state department from American Consul Stewart at Tampico. The motive was robbery. Barnes' parents live in Waco, Texas.

BANKER TO SPEAK

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Oct. 24.—J. M. Elliott, 80-year-old chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, is here today to address the Arizona State Bankers' association session. He is accompanied by W. H. Thomson and J. E. Barber, the latter to address the convention tomorrow on "American Investments Abroad."

Christian General In Pekin Command Demands Armistice

SHANGHAI, Oct. 24.—A Japanese news agency dispatch from Tien Tsin today reported the famous Christian general, Feng Yuh Siang, who seized Peking, and four Chihli commanders today sent representatives to the Feng Tien commanders on all fronts, urging an immediate armistice. The same agency said General Feng, had delivered an ultimatum to President Tsao Kun, demanding the immediate removal of Wu Pei Fu as head of the military forces of the central government, under threat of driving the government from Peking if the demand is not complied with.

Tien Tsin dispatch reported a brigade of Feng Tien are rapidly moving toward Luan Chow, with the object of completely cutting off Wu Pei Fu.

LOW BIDDERS ON SEWER SYSTEM

Awards of Contract Will Be Made by Council Tuesday Morning

The Glendale City Council met this morning as a committee of the whole, in session with the Sewer Advisory committee, the city manager, city attorney, city engineer and Robert E. McDonnell and Chester A. Smith of Burns, Smith & McDonnell, consulting engineers, to consider the bids on the forthcoming $1,600,000 sewer system that were opened and read before the council yesterday morning.

After a brief open session at 1 o'clock this afternoon, adjournment was had until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, October 28, when a full report on all bids will be received and awards of contract made.

Tell Low Bidders

The names of the low bidders, as disclosed at this morning's meeting, follow:

Section 1 (south section), Charles and George K. Thompson, $515,000.

Section 2 (middle section), C. E. Green, $396,784.

Section 3 (north section), R. A. Watson, $336,000.

By-pass (temporary south-end connection), Charles and George K. Thompson, $31,000.

Total, $1,278,784.

Attend Meeting

These low bidders are all Los Angeles firms. The following were present at the meeting this morning: Mayor Spencer Robinson, S. A. Davis, S. S. Gilhuly, Asa Hall, C. E. Kimlin, comprising the full personnel of the City Council; Herman Nelson, chairman, and John A. Logan, Alexander Mitchell and Bert P. Woodard of the Sewer Advisory committee; Virgil B. Stone, city manager; Ray L. Morrow, city attorney; John F. Johannsen, city engineer, and Robert E. McDonnell and Chester A. Smith of the firm of Burns, McDonnell and Smith, consulting engineers, retained by the city of Glendale to supervise construction of this sewer system.

GOVERNMENT ATTORNEYS QUESTION MOTIVE

Seek to Prove Big Sum Was Loaned to Get Favorable Leases

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—An attempt to prove that the loan of $100,000 made by E. L. Doheny to former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall was not a "bona fide transaction," but was granted as an overture for favorable consideration from Fall in oil reserve negotiations, featured today's session of the government suit to force cancellation of leases granted the millionaire to Elk Hills reserve properties.

All morning long, attorneys Atlee, Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, representing the government, read portions of the transcript taken at the senatorial oil inquiry into the court record which reiterated statements made by Doheny before that body.

They recited how Doheny told of knowing Fall since 1886. His statements of how he had mined with Fall and practiced law with him for many years were also told to the court.

Witnesses Ready

They stressed, at length, Doheny's statements of how he had loaned Fall $100,000 when he found him to be in financial straits and the attorneys sought to impress upon Judge McCormick that the loan was not a business-like transaction.

By noon, the government attorneys had not completed reading the transcript, but they stated that they would complete the tedious process shortly after lunch. Four of the government's star witnesses were in readiness to take the stand during the afternoon session.

Four Slayers Hanged In Bank Messenger Killing

MONTREAL, Oct. 24.—Amid the greatest secrecy and while a crowd of thousands fought with police outside, four slayers of a bank messenger in the $142,000 Hochelaga bank holdup last April were hanged here today. The four who died were Giuspee Serafine, Antony Frank, Frank Gambino and Louis Morel. A fifth, who was to have been executed, Michael Valentino, was given a reprieve by the cabinet at the eleventh hour. Of the $142,000 taken in the holdup, $100,000 still is missing.

$502,275 Is Collected For Democratic Fund

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Collections of $188,402 between October 10 and October 20 was reported to the Borah investigating committee today by the Democratic national committee. This brings the total contribution to the Democratic war chest thus far reported to $502,275.

L. A. GETS IN PACE WITH NEW YORK

California City Has Names Of Prominent People on Residential List

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—In little ol' New York, as the "colyumnists" say, the sun rises over Long Island and sets somewhere in Westchester county. New York, because of this becomes a world of its own and everything happening there is of utmost importance to the rest of the United States. A New York murder gets a column to every paragraph printed about a similar episode in Dixon, Ill., for instance, where the latest double-headed murder has been uncovered.

Los Angeles may be glad that it doesn't compete with the effete east in crime news, but it has more sources of human interest stories than New York ever dreamed—or this writer is a dead one. If you don't believe it, just try to pronounce a few names listed in the Los Angeles Telephone directory under Z.

Metropolitan Center

This city is more metropolitan for it hasn't a preponderance of one nationality, but a goodly number of all. Siamese, Chinese, Australians, Japanese, Hindus, Italians, Spaniards, French, Canadians, English, Polish, Swedish and German personages are registered at the hotels here or residents of the city, not to mention the Jews, Slovaks, Turks, Russians, Greeks, Indians, Africans and representatives of every state in the union who have made their homes here.

Authors, including Elinor Glyn, Rupert Hughes, A. Conan Doyle and a dozen more, are listed among those present. Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard, Jim Jeffries and other sporting celebrities mix in the Broadway throng of film stars, and no one bats an eyelash.

In Pasadena and Montecito you will find more millionaires' homes than in New York proper, and you can actually talk to them out here in the west without embarrassment, which is more than one can say of New York's upper crust.

Some Reasons Why

More scientific research is conducted hereabouts, more golf is played, more cabaret taxes are levied per population than in New York. Los Angeles is becoming an influential drama-producing center.

The American magazine, printed in New York, admits in its current issue that California has more musical instruments than any other state in the union—perhaps that is the reason for "tooting our own horn." California leads in automobiles, also, with New York second.

Los Angeles sets the style and New York wears it now. Although Gothamites do not realize it, two of its daily papers are owned by a Californian, a third edited by a Californian, and a fourth conducts a daily column of California news for Californians.

"Sweet daddy! Little ol' New York, do you know your new mama?"

Dancing on the beach by radio music has been popular in this country this year.

After the dinner Miss Rose Scott of Los Angeles spoke. Following her address the mission study course was planned, and the men and women of the church divided into groups on the contest plan. Study will continue for six weeks. A special feature of the evening was the "listening in" on the president's message over an Atwater-Kent radio set installed for the occasion through the courtesy of Psenner Bros.

Glendale Physician to See College Chum Wed

Dr. E. L. Settles of 231 North Cedar street left Wednesday night for St. Louis, Mo., where he will be best man, November 1, at the marriage of his college friend, William Gardner, to Miss Isabel Smith. Mr. Gardner, son of ex-Governor Gardner of Missouri, was a college chum of Dr. Settles at the University of Missouri. Following the wedding, Dr. Settles will visit in the East before returning to Glendale.

Holds Federal Office

MRS. LOUISE P. CHARLTON became United States commissioner for the northern district of Alabama recently, succeeding her husband, Kenneth Charlton. She studied law in her husband's office.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 24.—A woman, Mrs. Louise P. Charlton of Birmingham, is the new United States commissioner for the northern district of Alabama. She succeeds her husband, Kenneth Charlton, from whom she is said to be separated.

The appointment of Mrs. Charlton was made by U. S. District Judge W. L. Grubb. She is the first woman to hold such office in the South and one of few in the country.

Mrs. Charlton has been active in club life and in the work of the League of Women Voters. She is the mother of three children and formerly assisted her husband in the conduct of the commissioner's office.

As commissioner, it will be Mrs. Charlton's duties to hold preliminary hearings in federal criminal cases, fix bonds and otherwise act as an inferior judge. She has studied law in the office of Mr. Charlton.

Buckeye Club Members Stage Entertainment

Former residents of Ohio—175 in all—attended the meeting of the Buckeye club at Hahn's hall, last night. The meeting was directed by C. M. Wilder, president and he appointed W. J. Siebert, P. P. Evans and P. S. Fox, as a committee to name new officers. Musical selections were played by the boys' syncopated band composed of Otto Nelson, piano; Billy Siebert, drum; Morris and Kenneth Avery, saxophones; Ray Miller, banjo; Bobby Stoekel, ukulele. Miss Doris Carver sang with Mrs. Carver at the piano. Readings were given by Mrs. Eustace Moore and Miss Mildred Bowers.

"The Sandman" and "Queen Titania," radio entertainers, appeared in person and presented "A Trip From Fairyland to Earth to Attend the Ohio Club Meeting." "The Sandman" also talked on radio broadcasting. "Queen Titania" is the tiny leading lady in Tom Kahn's "Kids Komedies" of Hollywood. The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, November 25, instead of the regular meeting date, the change made on account of Thanksgiving.

District Master Visits Glendale Odd Fellows

District Deputy Grand Master Carl E. Wilde made an unofficial visit to Glendale lodge, No. 388, I. O. O. F., at the meeting held in the Odd Fellows' hall, 201-A West Broadway, last night. Mr. Wilde talked on the real spirit of Odd Fellowship, expressing his appreciation of the manner Glendale lodge has been functioning in visiting the sick, looking after the needy and attending meetings, stating that Odd Fellows really express their teachings in practical work. Dr. Norton spoke of his fifty-odd years as an Odd Fellow. Mr. Adams remarked on the difference between appreciative praise and flattery. L. G. Scovern and Dr. H. C. Smith gave reports on the grand encampment of Odd Fellows in Fresno, and also the state Odd Fellows' home for the aged, and the orphans' home. Twenty past grand officers were present.

Elders of the Loyal Sons met last night, with a good attendance. Boys between the ages of 14 and 18 are eligible to membership. Thursday, October 30, is the date set for the Odd Fellows' social night. Announcements made follow: Lankershim lodge institution, this afternoon, with supper at 6 o'clock tonight and installation and degree work; past noble grands' meeting at Odd Fellows' hall, Monday October 17, with dinner at 7 o'clock; Carnation Rebekah lodge dance Tuesday night.

Children's Chorus To Entertain Tonight

The children's chorus, organized in June at the First Congregational church by Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, will be heard at the church tonight. Miss Marguerite Chappell is accompanist. All Glendale people are invited to attend. Admission is free.

The program will start at 7:30 o'clock, and includes: Chorus, "Expectancy" (Frame); violin solo, "Scene de Ballet" (Ambrosio), Lawrence Rice; reading, "Little Orphant Annie" (Riley), "Little Boy Blue" (Field), Dorothy Van Dyke; vocal duet, "Two Marionettes" (Cook), Adele Rice and John Boyles; chorus, "Oh Fair, Oh Sweet and Holy" (Cantor); vocal solo, "Florian's Song" (Godard), Katherine Davis; piano solo, "Venetian Barcarolle" (Godard), Marguerite Chappell; chorus, "Clover Tops" (Gaynor), "Slumber Boat" (Gaynor). Those attending are asked to enter the church from Wilson avenue.

Nomination Petitions For Directors Ready

Nomination petitions for Chamber of Commerce have been prepared and will be distributed to prospective candidates. Signatures of ten members in good standing are required on a petition. Petitions must be filed with the Chamber of Commerce by November 10, ballots will be mailed November 15 and election will be held November 25.

Open Forum Dinner Is Plan of Realty Board

Realty board committee in charge of the November open forum dinner, met last night and took under advisement several places for holding the affair. The realtors' committee is working in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce program committee, composed of D. H. Smith, George Karr and Homer I. Wood.

More than 1,500,000 tons of bituminous coal were shipped shipped from the United States in a month recently.

Service Station Opens Tomorrow for Business

Marshall Super-Service station will hold its opening at 105 North Maryland avenue tomorrow, with modern equipment, service, quality work and right prices featured. R. F. Herzog will be in charge. Gilmore gasoline and high grade eastern oil are handled. Mr. Herzog also will have charge of tires, tubes, accessories, battery and electrical service. Ted Marshall will manage the repair shop. George H. Roe will be in charge of washing and lubricating departments. The new station boasts the largest air compressor for service in Glendale.

Glendale Student Gets Freshmen Class Honor

Henry Rohr, 409 Palm drive, has been appointed as a member of the Freshman executive committee of the University of Southern California. The committee will look after the welfare of the class and welcome and entertain visitors who play freshman teams.

YE MARKET PLACE READY TO SERVE PUBLIC NEEDS

Food Exhibits and Demonstrations Will Vie With Music by Orchestra; Twenty-nine Stores Massed Under One Roof

Ye Market Place, Glendale's newest and largest general market, representing a total investment of $150,000 and containing 15,000 square feet of free parking space, opens at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning with a super-food exhibit in 2500 square feet of floor space set aside for demonstrations and exhibits by twenty leading firms, announces O. M. Ennis, manager. The location is on Los Feliz road, between Brand boulevard and Central avenue.

The grand opening of this twenty-nine unit market will be featured by Walker's negro jazz orchestra and entertainers, Mr. Ennis states, and will continue throughout the day until 10 o'clock or later at night. Over the large Spanish type structure will fly the official flag of the city of Glendale, recently adopted by the City Council, the first time these colors have been unfurled to the breeze.

The idea of Ye Market Place was conceived by C. L. Peckham of 615 North Central avenue, president of the corporation and a pioneer resident of Glendale. Mr. Peckham has seen the city grow from a mere hamlet to nearly 60,000 population, in the eighteen years he has lived here, he explains, and it was after repeatedly experiencing the annoyance of driving around the block two or three times to find a parking niche, exery time he went shopping, that he conceived the idea of a large market surrounding on three sides a free parking space of liberal size.

Plenty of Parking Space

Ye Market Place, Inc., comprises besides C. L. Peckham, its president, the following officers and directors: C. T. Green, vice president; John Crofton, secretary-treasurer; G. K. Bolt, Dr. James L. Flint, Percy Priaulx, Clarence Mace and C. Ray.

The Malcolm Smith Co. designed and erected the building, which occupies 200 feet on Los Feliz Road and extends back 175 feet. Two rest rooms are provided and a ten-foot arcade extends out around all the stores, offering protection from sun in the summer and rain in winter. Fully 100 machines can be accommodated at one time in the parking space, according to Mr. Ennis, manager of Ye Market Place.

Firms in Market

The following firms have already taken space in this big new market, he states, and negotiations are under way with several others: Young's Market Co., Inc.; E. A. Morrison Co., grocers, Store No. 34; Rabin Bros., delicatessen; New England bakery; Schuyler & Harshman, fruits and vegetables;

PROGRESS IN AERONAUTICS

Aeronautical events of epochal importance have been happening in rapid succession of late. The dawn to dark flight across the United States by Lieut. Russell Maugham, the establishment of the air mail route across the continent, the successful completion of the circumaviation of the globe by American army fliers, the flight of the huge dirigible, the Shenandoah, from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, and the record flight of the ZR-3 across the Atlantic are all events that foretell a great future for aeronautical travel and transportation. They are events that are important from an historical point of view, and yet, in a few years, we shall be amused that we once lived in a world war and at a time when such flights were considered to be great accomplishments.

The success of transporting mail across the country by airplane relays suggests that passengers could be carried the same way, greatly shortening the time of limited trains. The flight of the ZR-3, breaking the record of the fast steamships across the Atlantic, opens wonderful possibilities in transoceanic travel. It has been suggested that in a few years it will be a matter of little moment for one to breakfast in New York, lunch in London and attend the theatre in Paris or Berlin in the evening.

Another enthusiast about the future of air travel suggests a yet more novel experience which may be possible in our lifetime. That is a flight around the globe with the sun, traveling from east to west without going into the shadows, but basking in the rays of the sun for the entire twenty-four hours.

While air craft in its present state of evolution, is not adapted to such feats as these, the practicability and the possibilities of air craft have been demonstrated and established, and it is only a matter of time until further problems of aeronautics have been worked out.

It was only a few years ago that we thought the Wright brothers and other pioneers in the manufacture of heavier-than-air planes were impractical dreamers, and when the "Junebug" sailed for a mile we smiled. Then Bleriot, in his monoplane, sailed clear across the English channel and nearly frightened the British to death. With the coming of the war, the aerial navies of the world took an important place in the world struggle, even though aviation was then in its infancy.

"We are living in a grand, an awful time," said the poet, but still more wonderful things are ahead if the world dedicates itself to peace and progress and does away with war. Man has heretofore been like the grub-worm, held to the earth in a sheath of doubt, ignorance and superstition. Now he has emerged from the chrysalis, his wings are unfolding, and, like the butterfly, he can spurn the earth and soar into the sun, if he will.

A PLEA FOR MORE TREES

It is a shame that here in Southern California, where motoring is an all-the-year-'round diversion, and where nature smiles at the slightest provocation, we have not more trees along our highways. Some of the landscapes along our most widely traveled boulevards are pictures of desert barrenness in the summer, when a few trees would soften the glare of the sun, provide cooling shade and moisture, and transform the scenery into vistas of beauty. There is very little allure for most people in a sun-baked waste, and visitors not only pass such places as quickly as possible, but retain no very pleasant memories of the trip. What a relief, when we are motoring along in the glaring sun, to come to a section of the road bordered and canopied with shade trees.

In 1915, exposition year, a committee conceived the plan of setting out shade trees and roses along the highways of Los Angeles county in an effort to beautify the roadways for the thousands of visitors that came to California that year. Of course the attempt was made too late to make any showing that year, but the trees and bushes were set out, and trellises erected for the roses at considerable expense. But, this committee was so severely ridiculed and so strongly accused of wasting the county's money, that it is presumed it grew discouraged and dropped the matter. Some of these trees and bushes have flourished in spite of the fact that they have had no care, and they furnish a refreshing note in the landscape here and there. It is a pity that all could not have been cared for until they made a start.

We, in America, are far behind the old countries of Europe in appreciating the value of a tree. In France, when the government lets the contract for a new state road, it includes in the specifications the setting out of the trees that are to grow on either side of the road. The contractor is bound to care for the trees for a period of two years, and to replace any that die within that time. And, part payment of the contract is held back until the expiration of the two years as a guaranty that this work will be done. In other European countries no permit is issued for the cutting down of a tree unless another is planted in place of it.

FEDERAL COURTS CONGESTED

Attorney General Stone proposes to establish an inferior federal court to relieve the congestion in the federal courts, resulting from recent legislation. The making and importing of spirituous and malt liquor is criminal, the use of narcotics has grown to such an extent as to be a national menace, petty thefts in interstate commerce, and smuggling have greatly increased in the last few years. These offenses have so congested the dockets of the federal courts that they cannot be reached for a long period, a condition that offers encouragement to law breakers.

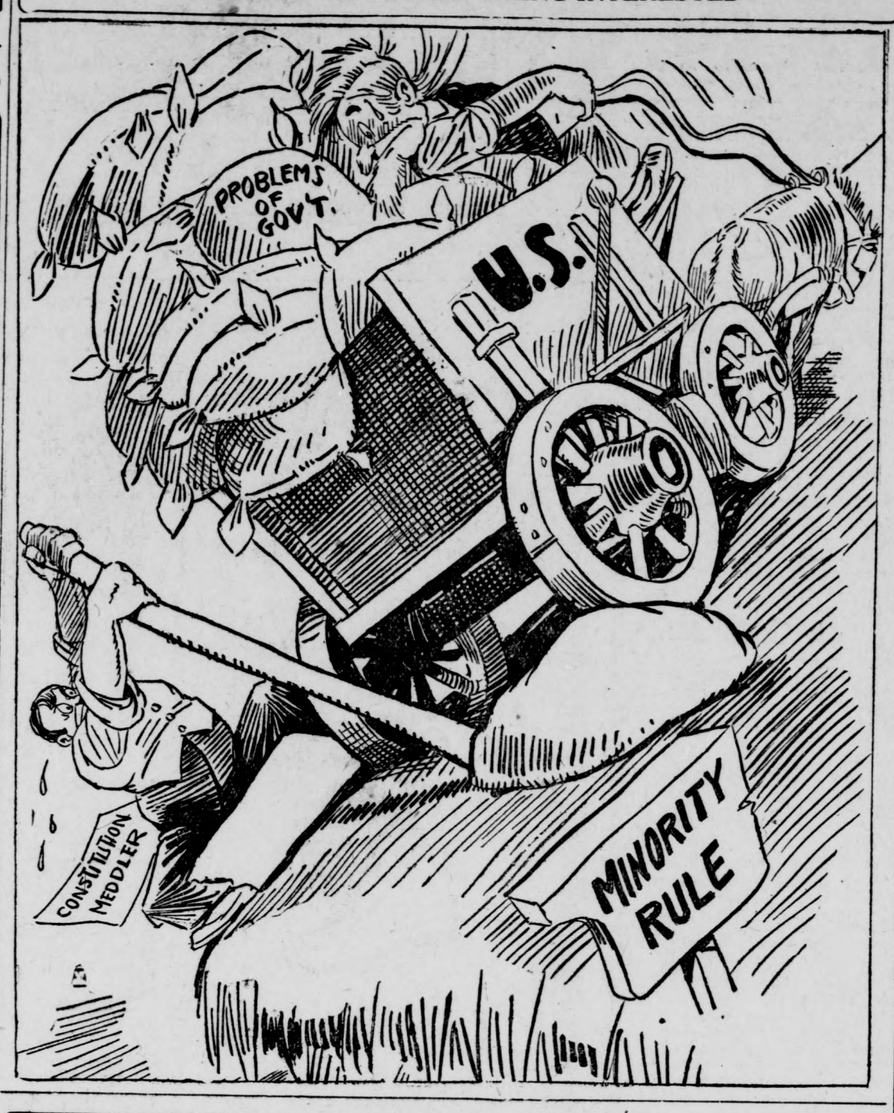
The New York Post sees in this situation an indication of the change in modern living conditions. Most of these offenses were unknown to the federal courts ten years ago. "The establishment of an inferior court," says the Post, "with power to deal sharply and summarily with such offenses, will give the necessary relief to the higher courts. Moreover, the efficiency which has always characterized the United States courts would be very likely to reduce the numbers of offenses."

There should be no shortage of fuel this year—just think of the political timber that will be available after November.

It does not always follow that the eye in the youth has youth in the eye.

And, another good way to diet is to join several luncheon clubs.

WE JUST CAN'T HELP BEING INTERESTED



Clubs

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A news item reports that there is a considerable decline in men's clubs.

This is as it should be, for a club is about the dreariest place in the world. It has been described as an institution kept up by a thousand men for the benefit of ten bachelors.

The club was doubtless originally designed as a man's refuge from women.

As women are becoming more like men, and indulging nowadays in the same callings that men indulge in, men no longer want to escape.

They like to have the women always about the place. One cannot imagine why it was the men ever wanted to escape from them.

Men, when they are together, discuss their food, their work, with an unwholesome solemnity. But to lunch, even in the cheapest hotel or restaurant, is to mingle with humanity in its healthiest and most cheerful mood.

Lunch, in a city club, is one of the most boring and dreary ceremonies imaginable. Men in clubs talk lugubriously in undertones. In restaurants there are laughter and romance. The office is forgotten, the recreation is complete. Staid men and women lose, temporarily, their aging lines and the lack-lustre look in their eyes gives way to a genuine sparkle as they mingle with the fresh faces of young lovers snatching precious moments over their food.

The club is an excrescence of the class idea. It is the endeavor of one kind of people to get away from the other kind. It is a phase of the instinct to escape from humanity. But there is no real joy that is not a part of humanity and a man finds out, sooner or later, that happiness runs vertically through all strata and is not confined to a single class.

Horoscope

Threatening aspects rule today, according to astrology. The Sun and Uranus are both adverse.

Under this planetary government there is likely to be a great exaggeration of self importance and an access of egotism which makes it difficult to deal with persons in authority.

It is well to postpone search for employment, or in fact any effort to better one's financial condition.

All the signs appear to indicate that competition in many vocations will be severe today and it is well not to take any chances. Uranus is in a place that is believed to incline the mind toward many misconceptions and manifestations of unbalance.

It is held to the power of this planet when badly aspected that encourages the use of drugs which will increase rather than diminish.

If the seers are to be believed the coming year will be as marked by vice and crime as 1924, for the lowest point of human weakness has not been reached.

In all the ferment of mass mind there will be clarified thought that restores men to their high estate, it is prophesied.

The veil between the known and unknown has become thinned in recent years as science performed new wonders and it is possible, astrologers declare, for men to attain true greatness, so that they are indeed a little lower than the angels.

One of the promises of those who read the stars is that many children of super talents will be born before the middle of the century.

Morocco, Queensland and Spain are all subject to the malefic power of Saturn, which is likely to cause serious troubles.

Persons whose birth date it is should be wary of changes in the coming year, which may bring unexpected conditions.

Children born on this day may have the sort of lives that develops remarkable characters. These subjects of Scorpio have determined characters and are likely to be extremists either for good or evil.

HOT DOINGS

Tourist—"Well, did you have a long winter around these parts?"
Native—"Nope. Purty lively. So much scandal in the city papers."

Today's Poem

The House by the Side of the Road

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the peace of their self-content;
There are souls, like stars, that dwell apart,
In a fellowless firmament;
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran—
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban—
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road,
By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,
The men who are faint in the strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears—
Both parts of an infinite plan—
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

—Sam Walter Foss.

Who's Who

As the new governor of the Panama canal, Colonel M. L. Walker heads one of the few large governmental enterprises that turns into the nation's treasury more revenue than it takes out.

Recent reports show that, aside from its value as a vital factor in national defense and in American commerce, the canal is now a paying business concern. Its success in operation has been a direct result following the selection of its governors from the officers of the corps of engineers.

Colonel Walker the new governor, has been engineer of maintenance of the canal since June, 1921. He has had a long and distinguished service in the corps of engineers, United States army, since his graduation from the military academy in 1893.

In the appointment of Colonel Walker the government continues the practice of placing the administration of the canal in the hands of army engineers trained for the post in long duty as engineers of maintenance under the governor. General Goethals, builder of the canal and its first governor, was succeeded by the man he had trained, General Chester Harding and the retiring incumbent was long under Governor Harding. He now passes the office on to the engineer who has been closely identified with him in the work, Colonel Walker.

Making Presidents

By H. Irving King

IN 1892

Harrison was conscientiously devoted to the duties of his office; but not calculated to drive political wild horses or for affiliation with "practical politicians." At the convention of 1892 the Republican leaders regarded it rather as a duty than pleasure to renominate him. By a coincidence this situation, in a much more pronounced form, existed at the Democratic convention of that year where Cleveland was given the nomination by delegates, the majority of whom, in their hearts, objected to his receiving it; a result brought about by the generalship of William C. Whitney and against the protest of the New York delegation.

Whitelaw Reid, the editor of the New York Tribune, was made the Republican vice presidential candidate and the Democrats chose for the second place on their ticket Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, against the wishes of Cleveland's friends. Stevenson had been congressman and first assistant postmaster-general. The Republican convention was a quiet one; the Democratic convention stormy and filled with accrimonious debates. In both conventions only one ballot was necessary. Blaine who had just resigned from the Harrison cabinet, and William McKinley, Jr., who was the permanent chairman of the Republican convention, each received votes in the balloting of that convention, but the nomination was Harrison's by a large majority.

The Prohibitionists nominated John Bidwell of California for president and J. P. Cranfill of Texas for vice-president. The People's party, which embraced the Greenbackers and the shattered remains of various other parties which had vainly attempted to become national political factors, nominated James B. Weaver of Iowa, a Civil war brigadier, who had been congressman and, in 1880, Greenback presidential candidate—for first place and James G. Field of Virginia for second. There was much labor unrest in the country and in the ensuing election the People's party cut a large figure. A Socialist-Labor convention was held in New York which nominated Simon Wing of Massachusetts for president and Charles E. Machett of New York for vice-president. Its radical platform demanded, among other things, the abolition of the offices of president and vice-president.

At election Cleveland received of the popular vote 5,556,543; Harrison, 5,175,582; Weaver, 1,040,886; Bidwell, 255,841; Wing, 21,582. Cleveland had 277 electoral votes to Harrison's 145 and Weaver's 22.

Marketing of Crops Supplanting Politics

ST. PAUL, Oct. 24.—Despite the nearness of the election, politics is secondary as a factor in this territory to the marketing of the 1924 crops at a substantial profit to the farmer and resultant benefit to other business. There has been an increase of $100,000,000 in bank deposits in the last two weeks in this federal reserve district and buying has gained 60 per cent as compared with a year ago. The improved agricultural situation is responsible for a brisk demand for labor of all kinds.

Ranks of California Veterans Diminishing

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Death claimed 473 veterans of the Civil war in California and Nevada during the year 1923-1924, leaving 4017 veterans still carried on the roll of the Grand Army of the Republic, according to the report of Jas. M. Aubrey, assistant adjutant general, illustrating the steady diminution of membership. An extract from the letter of a post commander to the Assistant Quartermaster General, is published as follows: "I have the honor to hand you herewith this excuse for annual report with my personal check for $2.50 dues for ten members, two of whom are blind and four incompetent, the latter of which the writer is one; the balance dead but don't know it. . . . . I am paying this tax from my own funds. Post is near the end of the trail."

JAP GOLDEN WELL DOING FADE-OUT

Imperial Palace Water Co. Threatened as Famous Landmark Dries

TOKIO, Oct. 24.—The golden water well in the compound of the Imperial Palace is drying up for the first time since the establishment of the old Edo Castle on that site. Dr. Fujiwara, of the weather bureau here, has investigated the well, but is unable to explain the phenomenon. He says it may be the result of a change in the soil since the September earthquake.

There always has been mystery connected with it, for the water there is colder than in any other well in Tokio. And during the worst droughts in past times there has always been water in it.

Another Mystery

The drying up of the golden water well has served to direct the attention of experts to another mystery connected with the palace.

In the castle tower are wind holes through which a cold wind is always blowing at a high speed. Many experts of the weather bureau have investigated them, but have not been able to understand the low temperature nor the velocity of the wind.

"Science at its present stage of development," said Fujiwara, is "utterly at a loss to find a reason for such a phenomenon."

California Is Rated High as Cattle Owner

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Exclusive of dairy cows, purebred cattle in California represent an assessed valuation of $1,863,755, the State Board of Equalization announced. A total of 1,027,721 animals listed under the stock cattle assessment were valued at $18,296,596. Dairy cows numbered 556,684 assessed at $21,403,286. Horses numbering 243,632 were appraised at $9,036,615 and 52,210 mules in the state were assessed at $2,556,418.

WYOMING OUT TO WIN FOR 'OUR NELL'

Democrats Seek To Beat Texas To It In Electing Woman As Governor

By ARTHUR REX GRAHAM
Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 24.—With the slogan "Let's beat Texas to it," Wyoming Democrats today were organizing for the most determined political campaign in the state's history, in an effort to elevate to governship of Wyoming, the fourth Democrat ever to occupy the state office. Friends of Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, widow of the late Governor, William B. Ross, predicted today she would be swept into office with at least 10,000 votes to spare.

Thirty-four years ago, Wyoming territory felt sufficiently grown up to put on the long pants of statehood and the strangely assorted group of cowmen, homesteaders, prospectors and lawyers who framed her progressive laws, cudgeled their brains for some gesture with which to demonstrate their superiority over the backward and decadent east. As a result, "Votes for Women" was writen into an American state's constitution for the first time and apoplectic eastern statesmen were given a new slogan with which to garner votes from the embattled male element—"women's place is in the home."

"Down Petticoat Rule"

Today, Wyoming Democrats are determined to blaze still another untraveled trail, if for no other reason than the altruistic one of providing eastern politicians with a new slogan on which to go down to defeat—"down with petticoat rule."

Should Nellie Ross win the November election, she will be the first woman chief executive of a state, regardless of what Texas may do about "Ma" Ferguson's candidacy. For "Our Nell," as the political boys are already affectionately calling her, would be immediately called upon to take up their instructions from her husband's hands by death, filling his unexpired term before beginning her own.

Nellie Tayloe Ross is herself a pioneer. She was born at St. Joseph, Mo., the daughter of J. W. Tayloe. Her family moved during her girlhood days to Omaha where she met and married William B. Ross, then a struggling Cheyenne lawyer.

'Finest Housekeeper'

When the couple moved to the booming little cow town a little four room cottage was rented and Nellie Ross started in at once to establish a reputation as "the finest housekeeper in Cheyenne." Three sons came—Ambrose and George, now 21, twins, and Bradford, now 12, and the housework grew in proportion, but Nellie Ross kept her record as premier housekeeper unchallenged. When the goal of their dreams was finally reached, the Ross household added a maid and a houseman, but Mrs. Ross continued to prepare wholesome meals and do much of the other housework as well.

Nellie Ross has no political ambitions. The office sought the woman. The Democratic nomination was accepted by her at the last moment, only in the sense that it came as a tribute to her husband, whose policies she will carry out if elected.

SCIENTIST WOULD SOLVE UNKNOWN

English Nobleman Suggests Shaft Be Sunk 12 Miles Into Earth's Crust

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The furtherance of scientific investigation through sinking a shaft into the earth twelve miles deep was advocated by Sir Charles A. Parsons in an address at a luncheon tendered to him and to Senator Lugi Luiggi, president of the Society of Italian Engineers, at the Engineer's club. International co-operation might be necessary to complete the undertaking, the speaker said, estimating the cost roughly at $100,000,000.

Sir Charles said an exploration of this character might reveal the existence of new chemical elements and of metals heavier than any now known. The force of gravitation, he said, would draw such minerals downward from the earth's crust.

Fifty-Year Job

"We know nothing of what is beneath our feet, but we know that the heaviest minerals are at the center of the earth," Sir Charles told officers and members of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the American Institute of Mining Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, who were his hosts.

"Instead of sending out polar expeditions, wouldn't it be better to go down and see what we come to? Experiments which I have made convince we that it would take 50 years to get down twelve miles. It would be a great bond of union for the various nations to combine in such an enterprise. We have evidence from earthquake waves that it is hot twenty miles below the earth's surface. It would take £20,000,000 to finance a big company to do the work."

Active Competitor Of Orange Is Found In New Feijoa Fruit

SANTA ANA, Oct. 24.—C. P. Taft, resident of Orange and winner of the Frank Meyer medal for the most notable discovery of new plants and trees this year, says the feijoa, a South American fruit with which he is now experimenting, will become an active competitor with the orange in a few years. It is similar to the guava and thrives in this climate. Taft is noted for various varieties of loquats and avocados he has developed. The sapote is another good fruit, he said.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Will some high school student please answer:

What is feijoa, sapote, guava, loquat, avocado?

Briefly, they are tropical fruits which are being developed in the southland by C. P. Taft of Orange, according to the Santa Ana Register. He is an eminent horticulturist and when he says that loquats and feijoas will some day rival the orange in popularity the high school student had better get acquainted with the new acquisitions.

You high school students will be buying your children and grandchildren sapotes and guavas for Christmas forty years hence. And if you travel in the quest of Pacific trade to South America you will find the aforementioned fruits delicacies of the tropical climes.

Our mothers and fathers of today can tell of the first time they ate oranges and bananas, a rare treat that was accorded them through the development of transportation.

Southern Californians were among those receiving mail from Germany in eight days via the ZR-3 and America's efficient air mail. Another five years will see dirigibles crossing the Atlantic weekly with mail and passengers.

Also, airplanes will be made safer and travel in the sky will become quite common in the west where great distances must be traversed. Railroads always will carry the bulk of the transcontinental traffic, but the day is coming when important missions will be undertaken by airplane and important messages transmitted by radio.

Think of the thousands who last night heard President Coolidge speak in Washington, his voice being transmitted to many broadcasting stations by land wires and then broadcast over local radios.

Wonders never cease!

Today and tomorrow will see high school and college football contests on gridirons all over America. They are great box office attractions.

The writer enjoys a good football game, perhaps a little better than baseball. Certainly, the spectator is more enthused for, in miniature, it is a battle of wits pitted against brute strength. It combines the finesse of baseball and basketball with the science of boxing.

More than that, it requires the utmost of sportsmanship on the part of every player as an individual and in team group.

One cannot help but admire football.

in that wonderful FRAZIER MOUNTAIN PARK. Seems to me that's "PROOF OF THE PUDDING" as to how they like this bit of "PARADISE 'MID THE PINES"! Only a short time ago I was tellin' you 'bout our opening. Now the first allotment is all sold out and No. 2 is goin' mighty fast. Fox-Woodsum is sending up lumber to build some of the prettiest cabins you've ever seen. There'll be rock cabins and garage, and probably you'd like to know the names of some very prominent Glendale citizens that are buildin' them. DON'T LOSE A MINUTE—come right 'round to TWINING & MYERS, 108 WEST BROADWAY, and we will tell you who they are and all about the recreation features of this "GREAT NATURAL PARK." It will add years to your life, color to your cheeks and provide your dear ones with the HAPPIEST MOMENTS OF THEIR LIFE by renewing your

"Love of the Great Out-of-Doors"

Folks, it's great, and I'm talkin' straight, 'cause life's short enough and I want you to get a full value while it lasts. Here's news that'll make "YOUR EYES SPARKLE." Bill Twining, Lon Baird, "Mister" Myers and Harry MacBain went out to the RAINBOW ANGLING CLUB," saw Leigh Garnsey and bought 100,000 FISH to be turned into the streams and lakes of Frazier Mountain Park. I just go "plumb happy" anticipating the pleasure of those fishin' trips. With lower lake No. 8 and lake No. 6 all completed and workin' on lake No. 1, "OH, BOY," there is certainly lots of fun ahead for all those lucky buyers. Don't hesitate, come right 'round to the office with your deposit and you'll be "tickled to death" when you see those cabin sites Sunday. Ask some that did this very thing last week. It's mighty encouraging when they tell you they think they're worth 5 times what they're paying for them. Here's what I call clever thinkin' and co-operation: 3 Glendale lads are goin' to build a big, fine community cabin on 3 lots. Now, you can just make a notation that these "young bloods" will get a "REAL KICK OUT OF LIFE." Talk about makni' you feel YOUNG. Last Sunday 2 elderly ladies wanted to take a real honest--to-goodness HIKE. The salesman, very polite and considerate-like, was a little worried about results. But, SAY! "The way they trotted up and around those trails just made him open his eyes. AGE JUST TAKES A BACK SEAT, THAT'S ALL!" Not forgettin' that Pete Ferry is busier than "ever" on improvements, that the air is crisper and finer than "ever" and the scenery more beautiful than "ever." Come up, see for "YOURSELF."

RADIO SALES PREDICTED TO JUMP

Manufacturers of Sets Expect To Make $80,000,000 Worth Before April

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. Manufacturers of radio receiving sets expect to sell at least $80,000,000 worth of equipment between now and April 1, 1925. One company holding the patents governing the neutrodyne process anticipates realizing over $1,650,000 in royalties on the gross sales of the 14 manufacturers licensed to use the formula.

The figures give an idea of the tremendous growth of demand for radio equipment in the United States. There are at present about 3,000,000 homes equipped with receiving sets. Of this number over two-thirds are provided with crystal sets. Manufacturers, however, estimate that in the next few years 10,000,000 homes will be equipped with sets of the more expensive type. At the most conservative estimate, that will mean an investment by the public of at least $500,000,000.

Radio Sales Large

The radio sales for the next two months probably will be at a heavy rate because of the stimulus of Christmas buying, but January, February and March normally are the heaviest months of the year in this industry. The claim that within a year or so 10,000,000 homes will be equipped with receiving sets does not seem unduly optimistic when it is realized that 9,000,000 homes in America have phonographs and 1,200,000 families have automobiles.

The amount of experimental work which has been done in the radio field in the last few years has not been exceeded in any other industry. Those experiments are still going on, but engineers who have been prominent in the work believe that from now on the greatest developments will be in broadcasting rather than in receiving apparatus.

Improvement Expected

Improvements undoubtedly will be made, they say, but there is nothing in sight so far as is generally known that would produce a basic change in receiving equipment. In 12 years of intensive experimentation only four basic principles of radio reception have been developed.

In 1911 the "radio frequency" amplification system was worked out by German scientists. Two years later Major E. H. Armstrong developed the "regenerative" system. He followed up this work by perfecting the "super heterodyne" system in 1918, working under the stimulus of the great war and with war purposes in view, since that time broadcasting, as now understood, had not been developed. In 1922 professor Louis A. Hazeltine worked out the neutrodyne system.

Inventor In Luck

Among inventors, Professor Hazeltine is regarded as having fallen into a prodigious piece of luck. This was not because his invention was made fortuitously but because, when he had worked it out and had a model made, it proved ready to go into immediate production.

At least one other invention made about the same time and perhaps of equal basic importance is known to be in the hands of one of the big radio manufacturers whose engineers are still engaged in ironing out some of the kinks which have kept it from commercial production, although the general principle has been established and accepted.

Progress Predicted

Radio men feel that a big step will be taken in the progress of radio broadcasting and reception with the allocation of new wave lengths for ship communication. The new plan would assign for use of ships with either spark and continuous wave equipment the 600 meter wave for calling and distress purposes only and four working wave lengths between 630 and 1,000 meters. Calling and traffic waves lying in the band between 1,300 and 2,500 meters have been allocated to ships using continuous wave equipment. Heretofore ships have been confined to 300, 600 and 1,800 meter wave lengths.

The regulations undoubtedly will eliminate much of the interference with reception of broadcasting programs.

Convince yourself

It is a matter of simple arithmetic to prove for yourself that ice, used regularly throughout the year, will pay for itself in the food it saves.

Keep a careful record of your food bills for a month. You will see that for a small percentage of this sum you can keep your refrigerator filled with ice.

Compare this with the cost of food wasted every month in the "kitchen cooler." The answer is — ice is a real economy as well as a protection to health.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE
Sale No. 3536

WHEREAS, by a Deed of Trust, dated March 23, 1923, recorded June 9, 1923, in book 2343, page 175, of Official Records of Los Angeles County, California, to which record reference is hereby made, James L. Crisman and Katie M. Crisman, his wife, as joint tenants, did grant and convey the property therein and hereinafter described to the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, as trustee, to secure, among other things, the payment of one certain promissory note, in favor of J. Bryan Burn and Marion V. Burn, his wife, as joint tenants, and other sums of money advanced and interest thereon; and

WHEREAS, said J. Bryan Burn and Marion V. Burn have for a valuable consideration sold and assigned said note and duly endorsed the same to William P. MacMullin and Helen E. MacMullin, his wife, as joint tenants; and

WHEREAS, there has been a default in the payment of the principal of said note, according to the terms thereof, and of all interest due and payable thereon subsequent to June 23, 1923, there being the total sum of $1548.48 now due and unpaid; and

WHEREAS, in accordance with the provisions of Section 2924 of the Civil Code of California, said William P. MacMullin and Helen E. MacCullin, the owners and holders of said note and trust deed, on June 30, 1924, caused to be recorded in the office of the County Recorder of said Los Angeles County a notice of such default in the payment of principal and interest, and of their election to cause the property described in said trust deed to be sold, in accordance with the provisions thereof, to satisfy said obligation, which notice of default and election to sell was duly recorded in Book 4119, page 141, Official Records of said Los Angeles County; and

WHEREAS, said Trust Deed provides that, if there is a default in the payment of any of the sums secured thereby, upon application of the holder of said note, the trustee shall give notice and sell so much of the property as shall be necessary to satisfy the indebtedness secured thereby.

WHEREAS, said William P. MacMullin and Helen E. MacMullin, by reason of the default in payments as stated, have requested the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY to give notice and to sell said property, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to sell, to pay all the indebtedness secured and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust.

NOW THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY by virtue of the authority vested in it as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin, on the 8th day of November, 1924, at the hour of 11 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the western front entrance of the Court House in the City of and County of Los Angeles, State of California, all the interest conveyed to it by said Trust Deed, in and to all the following described property, to-wit:

Lot Eleven (11), Tract 5116, in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 54, page 36 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County;

Subject to prior incumbrances, if any, of record;

Or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the total amount of the principal, interest, advances, charges, and costs, amounting to the sum of Eighteen Hundred and 00/100 Dollars ($1800.00), due and unpaid.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY, has duly authorized this notice, by the signature of its Vice-President, attested by its Secretary, who has affixed the Corporate Seal, at Los Angeles, California, this 1st day of October, 1924.

TITLE GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY.

J. B. Burn Leaves for South Carolina Trip

After four years of hard and constant work at the real estate business in Glendale, J. B. Burn, successful young operator, left today with his wife and baby for an extended vacation trip to his old home in South Carolina.

It will be Mr. Burn's first vacation since he came to Glendale from Society Hill, S. C., early in August, 1920. The trip will be made by rail via San Francisco and Chicago. A short stop-off to visit friends will be made at St. Louis. The Burns will be gone for six months.

Mr. Burn was fomerly associated with the firm of Doner, Hemenway & Burn, but more recently has engaged in business by himself with offices at 108 North Maryland street.

K. P. Lodges of Three Cities Hold Meeting

Glendale, Hollywood and Van Nuys lodges of Knights of Pythias are being brought together by a series of joint meetings, the first one held Tuesday night at the Glendale K. As loyal citizens regardless of party affiliation came to the rescue in support of President Lincoln in '61 to '65, and again to President McKinley when the 16 to 1 silver craze was on, so they are again coming to the support of Coolidge and Dawes today when this republic is threatened with a great conspiracy and the very life of the nation is menaced not by one of the great political parties, but by a collection of what might be fairly termed the enemies of a republican form of government.

There is positive evidence that at least two Glendale women read this column. One of them handed in for publication the "story" about the refusal by one of her acquaintances of an invitation to attend the Wheeler meeting at the Hollywood Bowl because she didn't care to "listen to that knocking bird"; and now on the wings of the morning comes this suggestion by phone. It's a feminine voice and it says: "Say, if it isn't too late I want to suggest 'Listen to the Knocking Birds' as an appropriate title for a La Follette and Wheeler campaign song." Now it is in order for somebody with the proper jingle in his—or her—system to compose the song, "Listen to the Knocking Birds." As election day is near, time is of the essence of the effort.

The temptation is irresistible. Politics may go hang while this paragraph is ground out. Walter Johnson, the idol of baseball fans, is "coming to town"—the great and beloved "Barney"! This won't be news to the fans, for they all know it already, but it enables this paragrapher to do a bit of boasting that any fan in good standing with the cult will admit is pardonable. This is it: The hand pushing the pencil creating hieroglyphics for those boys out there in the composing rooms, has shaken hands with Walter the Great many times—almost as many times as it has grasped the good right hand of the great T. R.—and this scribe is about equally proud of both "events." For years, ever since Johnson joined the Senators "we" have rooted for him. Johnson was about all there was to the Washington team in those early days, and say, boy! what a joy it was to see him mow 'em down. "Strike one, strike two, strike three." They all looked alike to Johnson when they came to bat—Ty Cobb along with the rest. "Barney" was no respecter of swatters. O, boy! those were great days for the fans—and then, after years of pitching and waiting for the long-loked-for support — along comes "Bucky" Harris, the young Napoleon among managers, and plays the Senators into a world series.

And then—and then—Johnson lost the first game played! And—well positively "we" in common with a lot of other old fans—well, if "we" had wept briny tears our suffering might have been assuaged. Grief was too deep to find relief in tears. But still there was hope for dear old "Barney." He would come back next week and surely then he would win. But again that great right arm that had shot the spit ball over the plate for eighteen years to the utter dismay (in Barney's younger days) of all of the kings of swat, gave final proof of the loss of its cunning—and again the Great Walter went down to defeat in one of the most dramatic exhibitions the sporting world has ever witnessed.

Every fan knows all about it and nothing new can be written, except possibly this: After Johnson had lost his second game one fan here in Glendale blubbered out his sympathy for Johnson when another blubbered back. "Well, he don't feel 's bad about it 's we-all do." And that doubtless approached the truth. And then came the halcyon hours of the last four innings of the seventh and final game. Johnson won it and thereby won the series—the first in which he ever was permitted, under the rules of the game, to play. And then our blubbering was converted into happy huzzahs. And now Walter—"our Barney"—every fan's idol, is coming to California. He will arrive in Los Angeles Saturday, and—well—all the boys and fans know the rest. Now to make this "story" eligible to admission into this Coolidge column this political snapper is appended—Walter is an enthusiastic Coolidge booster! He couldn't be otherwise in this campaign, for Walter Johnson is the type of citizen that inspires respect and confidence and admiration—the type that you always simply know where they stand on any public question with a moral or patriotic tint—just as we in Glendale always know how. Bro. Norton and Capt. Barrett will "line up." Hurrah for Coolidge and Johnson—and Norton and Barrett.

BEGGARS ARE WORTHY OR UNWORTHY

State Official Says It Is Aim of Deformed to Earn Own Living

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Pity the poor beggars! Maybe so and maybe not! This writer set out to get the facts about those worthy and unworthy of charity and W. H. Holland, head of county charities, knows of those worthy and of some unworthy.

Attorney H. D. Hicker of the division of rehabilitation, state department of education, also knows them, particularly those dependents seeking to improve their social status. In fact he disagrees with the police judge who fined a blind woman singer for begging. "She is supporting her blind husband and child while he is attending college. After he gets his education neither will have to beg," he said.

Nevertheless there is an ordinance against begging in the city, s many of the professional panhandlers, who play upon credulous sympathy, are to be found in the suburbs. Of this Mr. Hicker says: "There is known to be a man, not crippled, who takes beggars blind or deformed to cities adjacent to Los Angeles where they work by the day, dividing their earnings with the 'beggars' syndicate'."

Shining Example

But the average cripple does not relish begging—and the blind have particular pride in being able to do something for humanity. The rehabilitation director in the southland mentioned D. W. Campbell, chiropractor of San Gabriel, as one who is succeeding in his chosen profession.

"The sense of touch becomes more highly developed in one who cannot see," according to Mr. Hicker. "Six others under our direction are taking up that type of training, two of them totally blind.

"It is the great aim of the physically disabled to earn a living rather than look for charity," continued this good shepherd of the cripples, who took particular pride in telling of the accomplishments of a young fellow suffering from acute heart disease.

Successful Composer

"Arleigh Herreon resides in Universal City. From royalties on songs he has composed, he will be able to finance his musical education while the state provides him with tuition in the best school available.

"One of his latest hits is 'Out in the West' which is being played by the large orchestras and broadcasted. There is no question but what he will become a successful composer—at the same time maintaining his physical composure. In rehabilitation the answer to the beggar problem is given, if you can educate them to this idea while still young and they have the ambition and desire to become independent."

Backsliding Case

Yet once a street beggar, they are apt to backslide, as witness the case of an accomplished accordionist. He was equipped with a musical education and a $500 instrument, still his amateurish efforts on the streets of Los Angeles led to jail.

"He was a wonder," said Mr. Hicker, "and when he lost two legitimate jobs because he felt his employers were imposing on him on account of his infirmity, he hire a chauffeur and started touring the country playing on street corners. He picked up $50 in one day at Tia Juana. I met him at Riverside during fair week and he was making money fast."

The record of the rehabilitation division in that case might read: "Increased earning capacity from beans to banquets."

Railroad Buys More Ore and Auto Cars

ST. PAUL, Oct. 24.—The Great Northern railway has bought 500 ore cars from the General American Car Co. and 1,000 automobile box cars from the Bethlehem Steel company at a total cost of $3,700,000.

DAWES GIVES REAL LIFE TO FIGHT

Vice-Presidential Candidate Republican Ticket Puts Color In Campaign

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News. Copyright, 1924

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—It doesn't make any difference what your politics may be, a visit with Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes is one of the real high spots in an otherwise somewhat drab and dull campaign.

It was wisely figured by the Republican leaders that the general would put into the 1924 fight the color that might be lacking from the direction of the white house in Washington. They say the general has toned down considerably since his first efforts after the Cleveland nomination, but even if he doesn't show any great further interest in the personal affairs of "Marie" or call upon the nether regions to support him in a statement of fact or fancy, the vice presidential candidate of the G. O. P. still indulges in enough picturesque expressions to bring chuckles of delight from his audiences.

Makes Big Hit

He spoke here last night under the auspices of the Women's Republican clubs, with Mrs. George Lorimer, wife of the editor of The Saturday Evening Post, presiding, and he made a great hit with the ladies by starting out in a confidential way of "Just between us girls." And when he referred to General Smedley D. Butler, of the "Fighting Marines," who is Philadelphia's stormy Director of Public Safety, as a man with "guts," the ladies, instead of wincing applauded vigorously, and caused General Dawes to grin broadly in return.

Although he is partisan enough at the moment, General Dawes makes no effort, even at this critical juncture in the affairs of the G. O. P., to disguise his disgust with the average politician. If he ever comes to preside over the Senate as vice-president of the United States and has to sit and watch and listen to the superpoliticians who inhabit the upper branch of Congress, he probably will have a brainstorm and hurl a few gavels or ink bottles at the spouting statesman.

Democrats Ignored

The general says that even the professional politicians of his own party make him blush at times, so there is no telling what he thinks of the Democrats and the Progressives. He sometimes pays his respects to the latter, but he hasn't been talking very much against the Democrats of late. He explains this by saying they don't exist.

General Dawes is a business man, and he thinks it is about time, apparently, that the people of the United States were choosing a business man as president. Mr. Coolidge, of course, is not a business man. He has been in politics most of his life, but professionally he is a lawyer. General Dawes is for Coolidge for president because he thinks the gentleman from Massachusetts more nearly approximates a business man than any of the other politicians. He says he admires Mr. Coolidge because he is "close" and because he "watches the nickels." That is "good business."

Washington Reference

The trouble with Washington has been that too many "independent satraps" have been trying to run the government. The presidents for the past 125 years have not been exercising their prerogatives as executive head of the administration—have not been acting, in other words, in a business capacity.

General Dawes goes back 125 years in his criticisms of the president so that no one may accuse him of being bitterly partisan in that respect. Only George Washington is spared. Anyone of the presidents, from John Adams on, could have put into effect a budget system, such as was established under President Harding. The general says it is all bunk to give Congress credit for the budget system. The whole thing could have been put through by executive order at any time without any law.

Satraps in Way

The Washington "satraps" have stood in the way. According to the best dictionaries a satrap is "a petty prince acting in an autocratic manner," or "a despotic subordinate official." General Dawes says that when he uses the word "satrap" to describe some of the underlings at Washington, he means the word in both its definitions. The satraps have all been "de-satrapped," however, under the budget system, and government is coming down to a safe and sane business basis.

The impression one gets from General Dawes these days is that after a long struggle against it, he is going in for a political life, and, "gosh, how he dreads it!"

Evening News Now On Its March To 8000 Circulation Total By January 1, 1925

The Glendale Evening News' circulation achievement has gone "over the top."

The 7000 circulation mark was reached some time ago, and now the figures to be reached by January 1, 1925, are 8000. This can only be accomplished by the united efforts of the friends of The Evening News. Ask your neighbors who are not now taking the paper to fill out the subscription order blank on page ten of this issue of the paper.

An order now for a year, six months, or three months' subscription will entitle the subscriber to the annual Development Number of The Evening News, which will comprise more than 100 pages of regular newspaper size. These pages will be finely illustrated with pictures of public buildings, streets, scenic views and people of Glendale. More than $1000 is being paid out for cuts and engravings. The press work will be the best that can be done in a newspaper publishing plant. Subscribers should phone or write in for extra copies. Price 10 cents per copy. A three months' subscription order will extend your time of subscription beyond January 1, upon which date the entire list of subscribers of The Evening News will be published. This list will require more than ten pages of the regular edition of the paper, and will be an excellent publicity feature for Glendale. The importance of a city is judged by the support given its daily newspaper. Only the names of persons who are known to be bona fide subscribers will appear in this list. If there is anyone receiving copies of the paper through an error on the part of someone, kindly notify The Evening News office, and the correction will be made immediately.

The Evening News is the "talk of the town" when it comes to getting results from display and classified advertising. Remember our telephone—Glendale 4000.

J. J. Deakin Loses In Realty License Action

J. J. Deakin, who failed to get a license to practice real estate in this city and left here late in 1923, after being a resident of Glendale two years, succeeded in obtaining a license to practice real estate in Ashland, Ore., where he removed, according to E. G. Warren, a member of the Glendale Realty board with offices at 300½ South Brand boulevard, but this license was later cancelled for irregular practices.

Deakin appealed to the courts, but transcripts of the testimony of Glendale people were introduced as evidence, Mr. Warren states, with the result that the appeal was denied and the action of the board in cancelling his license was upheld. Mr. Warren, whose testimony is said to have been a material aid in the removal of Mr. Deakin's license and the upholding decision of the court, states that he desires publicity given to the matter because of inquiries being received by him concerning the whereabouts of Mr. Deakin.

Coolidge Certain to Win In New Jersey

was to desert the Democratic party.

When Davis in Seagirt speech denounced the klan by name he recovered lost ground. When he came out later for the league of nations he lost some that he had gained. Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City who bosses Hudson county has rolled up his shirt sleeves and is really working hard for Davis. He will save him from the bad beating he might have got but even the resourceful Hague will not recover the votes that have been turned toward La Follette. The third party candidate will cut into the Democratic vote more heavily than into the Republican vote.

Coolidge and Klan

President Coolidge's attitude on the klan—silence—is not helping him here but those who feel resentful about it are more likely to vote for La Follette than Davis though there will be some acquisitions to Davis from the Republican ranks on this score. For the Democrats have not succeeded in showing a definite relationship between the Coolidge policy of silence and the plan itself. The letter given out by C. Bascom Slemp, the president's secretary, saying the president was not a member of the klan, nor in sympathy with its objects, is being used wherever the klan question appears vital in keeping Republican votes.

Mostly, the state is in the grip of conservatism—the doctrine of things as they are. The contest for United States senator is stirring up even more interest than the presidential race. Walter Edge, former governor and present possessor of the senatorial toga, won a bitter primary fight in which he took "the wet" side. There appears no doubt that Democrats of the "wet" variety went into the Republican primaries and helped him win. The Democrats nominated Mayor Donnelly of Trenton, who is wringing "wet" compared to Edge. He denounces the klan every hour in the day, while Senator Edge maintains a policy of studied silence,

Hope for Landslide

Senator Edge is popular. He is very strong in south Jersey which is usually Republican anyhow. He needs north Jersey to win. The other day, by a court ruling, the name of the Rev. James K. Shields, dry candidate in the primaries, was ordered retained on the ballot. The Donnelly supporters were jubilant. They think it may mean 25,000 votes for Shields that might otherwise have gone to Edge as the dryer of two principal candidates. And 25,000 votes in a close election is nothing to be ignored. But is it close? Senator Edge will profit by the Coolidge wave. A landslide for the top of the ticket would pull him through without any trouble. The Republican managers think they are conservative when they say Coolidge will win by 100,000 votes. If he wins by half that they will be satisfied but it is not so certain that a 50,000 lead would pull Edge through. Anything larger than that would mean the re-election of Edge. But the state is in a Republican mood notwithstanding a drift in the last few days toward Davis which comes too late to swing the electoral vote, especially with La Follette in the race to draw so much from the Democratic party.

Kansas Wheat Crop to Exceed Supply of 1923

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 24.—Kansas crops this year are valued at $417,000,000, according to Vice Chairman Lee of the finance committee of the regional board of the American Railway association. The value of the wheat crop, he says, will exceed that of 1923 by $112,000,000. There was a total of about 150,000,000 bushels grown in the state with a value of $177,000,000, whereas, in 1923 the 100,000,000 bushel crop was valued at $65,000,000.

He expects the 184,000,000 bushel corn crop to bring $1 a bushel and declares the hay crop will return farmers $40,000,000. Miscellaneous gains, according to his figures, are placed at $29,000,000 and the value of dairy products for the last 10 months at $23,000,000.

Presbyterians Receive 83 Members In Fold

Eighty-three members who recently joined the Glendale Presbyterian church were honored guests last night at an informal reception and program at the church. Halloween colors and features and autumn flowers were used in decoration. More than 250 church people and friends were received. Included in the entertainment program were violin solo by Mr. Stoll, accompanied by Miss Marie Bachman; readings by Mrs. Cleghorn, Scotch songs by J. D. Algie, readings by Madeline Ruth Sinkbeiner, address of welcome by H. H. Wiebe, response by Dr. L. L. Craven.

Glendale Girl Named To Head College Drive

Genevieve Mulligan, 321 East Chestnut street, a junior at the University of Southern California, has been placed on the committee in charge of the Campus Chest drive to be held at U. S. C., beginning Monday.

The plan of the Campus Chest drive is similar to that of the Community Chest idea, and its adoption will permit campus organizations to carry out their plans at once without waiting for a drive, and it will save both the contributors and solicitors time and money.

The committee will receive and apportion money to them from the various organizations needing money, which heretofore have launched individual drives, and apportion money to them from the Chest in proportion to their needs and worthiness.

Public Speaking Class Is Called for Tuesday

Class in public speaking will be held by the extension branch of the University of California, southern branch, at the Wilson Avenue school, Tuesday, October 28, at 7 o'clock. It will be conducted by Prof. C. A. Marsh. Twenty members are needed to continue the work, and anyone interested may attend. The usual membership fee of $6 will be charged for the eight weeks' course. Classes are held once a week.

Hunter Gets Mule's Ha ha as Deer Kicks Him While Fishing

REDLANDS, Oct. 24.—Now you tell one! George Huizing, local builder, has a black eye. He says a deer kicked him while fishing in Santa Ana Canyon. Yes, siree, a two point buck put in its appearance, got caught in some alder bushes and hung on by one of its hind legs. But the deer had another leg free and hauled off and gave his captor the mule's ha ha!

Seventh-Day Adventist Back From Conference

Elder F. E. Painter of 802 East Acacia avenue, field missionary of the Pacific Union conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, arrived home yesterday from Des Moines, Ia., where he had been attending the biennial fall council of the general conference. He had hoped to remain in Des Moines until next week, but illness prevented. Elder J. L. McElhany, president of the Pacific Union conference, and B. M. Emerson, secretary-treasurer, are expected back in Glendale the middle of next week.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Sponsor Scouts

Plans for sponsoring a troop of Girl Scouts were made yesterday by Maids and Young Matrons of the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting at the clubhouse. This is a new interest of this group of club women and at their next meeting they are to hear of Girl Scout work from Mrs. F. A. Beach, Girl Scout commissioner, and Mrs. H. A. Thimm, who is active in the work.

Mrs. C. G. Putnam, curator, was in charge of the meeting. Announcement was made of "Children's Book Week" beginning November 19. Mrs. William N. McCurdy, program chairman, gave a report of her plans, and Mrs. George Postle told of attending the recent district conference on junior work. Mrs. Waren Z. Newton was named chairman of the dance, to be given in November for the ways and means.

The forty club members present enjoyed two piano numbers by Mrs. Paul E. Webb, "Erotique" (Grieg) and "Waltze in E Flat Minor" (Chopin). Mrs. Henrietta Capp of Los Angeles, gave the first of a series of four lectures on home decoration.

Board Session

Mrs. Josephine Woolsey, president, presided last night over a meeting of the executive board of the Business and Professional Women's club with Mrs. Mary Baxter, 462½ West Ivy street. Plans were made for the Hallowe'en party next Tuesday night, with Mrs. Allie Anderson-Roberts as hostess at the Golden West sanitarium. Other special gatherings are being planned for the year.

CHARGES NUMEROUS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Arrest of the state's super-violator of motor traffic laws is claimed by Director Will R. Marsh of the state office, with the detention of Pablo Sagaia at Porterville. First the motorist was charged with driving without lights. Continued investigation developed that Sagaia had no driver's license and no license plates. Diligent search failed to disclose a registration certificate or a certificate of ownership. An investigation now is under way to determine whether Sagaia does own the car.

FOSSILS UNCOVERED

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 24.—Fossils of another strange animal which used to roam the wilds of Eastern Oregon years ago have been discovered. A group of University of California geologists have found the skull, tooth and several bones of an elotherium a squat, pig-like creature, which probably existed in the tertiary age. The skull was about the size of that of a horse, except that it was flatter. One of the teeth was about two inches in dameter and about three inches long.

TELLS NECESSITY OF EARLY TRAINING

Superior Court Judge Is Speaker At Luncheon of Kiwanis Club

Judge Frank B. Currier of the Los Angeles superior court addressed the Kiwanis club members following their luncheon this noon at the Oakmont Country club, on the subject, 'Crime and Youthful Criminals," pointing out that 75 per cent of crimes in this country are committed by those under 25 years of age, and suggesting religious training and more careful guidance by parents as the remedies. The speaker was introduced by James F. McBryde.

Venison brought back by President A. L. Baird and Dr. T. C. Young of the Kiwanis club, from their recent hunting trip, was served, proving a new thrill to many and a genuine treat to all.

President Baird and Dr. Young presided over the festivities, the latter talking briefly on "Game Conservation," wherein he urged that the present state law be changed as to permit but one buck instead of two to be shot by each huntsman per season.

Invited on Warships

D. H. Webb, secretary of the club, read a letter from the officers of the U.S.S. California, anchored off San Pedro, inviting local Kiwanians to be guests aboard the warship on Navy Day, Monday, October 27. President Baird announced a Kiwanis zone meeting at the Alley Inn on Monday night. William Bode, who won the attendance prize donated by Lyman P. Clark, outlined plans for the annual Kiwanis children's Hallowe'en party and parade scheduled for Friday night, October 31. M. L. Davis stated that 200 prizes have been donated. J. Arthur Myers led the club in group singing.

Members of the club who sang two songs, "Bells of the Sea," and "In Jungle Land," under the direction of J. Arthur Myers, were: Park Arnold, William Bode, George Lyons, John D. Fraser, W. A. Horn, Elwood Ingledue, E. P. Hayward, Ole Andresen and Allen Fairchild.

The silent boost was ginger ale donated by S. W. Brown. William Bottom, of the Los Angeles club, told of being "kidnaped" by the delegates to the Denver convention at the Los Angeles depot when the special train pulled out.

TOURISTS SPEND CASH

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—More than $1,000,000 was spent last summer by 1,225,000 auto tourists for camping privileges and supplies in public camp grounds, according to the biennial report of the state board of health, forwarded today to Governor Richardson. According to the health board, more than 3,000,000 persons visited the federal forest reserves during the summer months. During the year the board abated 10,500 public nuisances, and investigated 800 auto camps, 250 summer resorts, 440 roadhouses, 300 food supply houses and 400 comfort stations.

ENTERTAINS PARROT

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—While H. R. Braden, member of the State Board of Control and official budgeter to the administration, was seated in his offices on the third floor of the capitol today, a gorgeously feathered parrot flew in through an open window and perched on his shoulder. Efforts by Braden to converse with the bird on politics elicited only such comment as "Get busy" and "Hello." A few minutes later the owner, a restaurant man, appeared and claimed the bird, which had escaped from a cage on the borders of the park.

Robin Radio Fan Goes To Birds' Paradise

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—"Radio Timmy," first of his flock to realize the joys of "listening in," has heard his last concert. Timmy has "signed off" and gone where all good robins go.

The little redbreast first joined the army of nightly fans when he was picked up on the street and given a new home here by Mrs. Thomas Smith about two years ago. Once in his new surroundings, Timmy discovered a rival—the family radio.

At first he was peeved when his rival songster received more attention. Then he decided to investigate. After that he was convinced, the rim of the loud speaker became his nightly perch.

Timmy endured political speaking. A song or a lively bit of instrumental music roused Timmy to his best efforts. He preened his feathers and burst forth immediately into his favorite warble.

WILL MARK TRAIL

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 24.—The Mormon trail, the pathway of the Mormons in the wake of their great leader, Brigham Young, when they left the middle west, driven out of their settlements there by the opposition of non-Mormons, and crossed the plains by ox cart and hand cart, is to be marked by monuments. Andrew Jensen, assistant historian of the Mormon church, is now at work tracing the old trail through Wyoming, using old diaries of the original trekkers across the desolate Wyoming plains, old maps left by the early settlers and the bleached skulls of cattle and buffalo that have long served as markers along the faint trails through the sagebrush land.

SEA LAW IRKSOME

LONDON, Oct. 24.—British seamen want a quiet heart-to-heart talk with President Coolidge. The new United States fumigration law, which requires a ship's captain to provide a bond of $1000 for every alien seaman given shore leave in the United States, is causing great dissatisfaction among British seamen, and is making it difficult for steamship owners to get crews for voyages to United States ports.

RATTLER LACKS RATTLES

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—A diamond rattlesnake, forty-six inches in length, but devoid of rattles, was killed near Folsom prison today by F. C. Pottle and is on exhibition here. This is the first time that such a freak snake has been found in this county. The monster was doubly dangerous since it was unable to give the usual warning before striking.

State Prison Inmates 'Listen In' In Cells

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 24.—Inmates of the state prison here have become avowed radio fans. Prison officials recently installed a radio set in the recreation yard for the entertainment of the inmates after they had completed their day's work. During the winter months prison officials are planning to install a loud speaker in each cell of the prison.

KRUPPS MAKE TEETH

ESSEN, Oct. 24.—Krupps will supply men with a useful and powerful weapon, less formidable, though, than the big Berthas. The pig plant, which has been completely remodeled since the war, under the clauses of the Versailles treaty, is manufacturing good solid steel teeth. Under the supervision of eight experienced dentists about a thousand of these instruments, so indispensable an ingredient of a human being's peaceful armament, are being completed daily. As they are said to be of an exceedingly durable quality, which even surpassses that of their nobler companions of gold, there is a growing demand for steel teeth throughout Germany.

SALARIES UNPAID

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Madera county has declined to pay the salaries of quarantine officers engaged in eradication work against the foot and mouth disease, after federal and state officers assumed control of the situation. Refusal to honor the warrants was made by County Auditor W. C. Rhodes. Other than to declare that Rhodes' action was totally unexpected, officials of the State Department of Agriculture decline to comment, but it is understood the case will be tested in the courts. If the county auditor should win the case, it is thought other county officials in infected districts will take similar action.

BLAME BOBBED HAIR

PRAGUE, Oct. 24.—Bobbed-hair vogue is stated to be responsible for 1500 girls (formerly employed in the artificial-flower-making factories at Ehrenberg) being unemployed. It is stated that women with bobbed hair do not use artificial flowers to decorate their hair, and as a result the artificial flower industry in North Bohemia is threatened with ruin. American and English manufacturers, who have hitherto exported large quantities of artificial flowers to Czecho-Slovakia, have also been badly hit.

HUMORIST TALKS AT OPTIMIST CLUB

Harry James Is Speaker at Luncheon; Discuss Increase In Rates

Harry James, English humorist and monologist, and producer of records for the Brunswick Phonograph co., provided the entertainment at the luncheon of the Optimists club today at Masonic temple.

Mr. James first explained the process of manufacturing records and some of the difficulties encountered by speakers and singers, many performers having what is called "horn fright." This, Mr. James said, often applied to such performers as Harry Lauder. The latter part of his entertainment was devoted to the telling of stories.

Dr. H. R. Boyer announced Pasadena Optimists would put on the program next Friday. L. E. Olson urged a 100 per cent vote for the Civic center bonds. He also spoke of the tax increase, saying, however, that the purchase of the Harvard school would reduce the bond issue necessary to build new schools.

Endorse Action

Peter Hanson spoke of the increase in taxes on several pieces of property he owns, ranging from 50 to 300 per cent. One property was taxed last year $35, this year $139, and Mr. Hanson asked that the action of the City Council in appointing a committee of twenty to investigate the tax situation be endorsed. A motion to this effect carried.

Among the guests were Charles Laird, Minneapolis, and Charles McDaniel, Glendale Nash dealer.

Dr. Boyer announced the receipt of an invitation from Santa Monica Optimists for a charter night next Tuesday at the Miramar hotel, Santa Monica. Tickets were sold and a large delegation is going from here.

Ladies' night will be held on November 7 at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse, with Claude H. Hunter, chairman of the arrangements committee. An offer was received from the Dobinson players to entertain the guests after dinner at a reduced charge, and it was voted to leave this to the committee with power to act. Dr. Orrie E. Ghrist said he had spoken to several Optimists and all were in favor of attending the Dobinson performance..

It was also announced that pictures of each Optimist will be taken by the Paralta studio and a group picture made and framed for the club. Dr. E. T. Remmer was chairman of the day.

WOMEN OF RUSSIA ARE MEN'S EQUAL

Fair Sex Hold Positions In Soviet Government and Foreign Service

LONDON, Oct. 24.—In Russia women are on an absolute equality with men, according to a discovery made by Miss Susan Lawrence, labor member of parliament, in a six-weeks' tour of the soviet republics.

"Madame Trotzky, Madame Kaminef and Madame Krupskia—all full ministers in the central soviet government, are just as important cogs in the Russian political machine as any of the better-known male officials of the government," said Miss Lawrence. "It is also interesting to note that Madame Kolontay, who has just presented her credentials to the king of Norway, is the first woman in the history of the world to be an ambassador.

Girl Commanders

"In Leningrad I saw a parade of thousands of children, factory workers and peasants. Just as many girls were acting as commanding officers of troops of boys as there were boys commanding troops of girls. Mature women showed the same ability to command bodies of marching men as that shown by men in marshalling contingents of the supposed weaker sex. Bringing about this equality of the sexes is only one of the splendid achievements of the soviet government."

Remarkable steps in municipal administration have been taken by Russia within the last three years, according to Miss Lawrence.

Texan Fined $100 for Cruelty to Lone Cow

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 24.—Because he was found guilty of tying the hind leg of a cow over its horns with barbed wire and letting the animal starve to death, Carey Harvard was fined $100 in court here. The charge was brought by a humane society. Harvard admitted the offense, but declared the cow, belonging to a neighbor, was ruining his property.

'BOOTLEG' MILK SOLD

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Sam Dacre, Loleta dairyman, is the first milk producer to be convicted under the new California dairy law on a charge of selling "bootleg" milk, according to word received today by the state department of agriculture. "Bootleg" milk results from feeding cows on a diet of turnips, which has been eliminated from bovine bill of fare by law. Turnips cause the milk to take on a blue color and also prevent proper operation of the cow's digestive apparatus, thus producing milk below standard, commonly known as "bootleg."

NEW TOURISTS' SHRINE

LONDON, Oct. 24.—American tourists in Europe have a new shrine—No. 10 Downing street, London, the official residence of the British premier. That historic building, whose latest claim to fame and distinction is that an agreement regarding the evacuation of the Ruhr was worked out there between the French, Belgian and German premiers, draws almost as many sightseers as Westminster abbey, the Tower of London and the National Gallery. For some unexplained reason the legend has sprung up that simply to touch the knob of the prime minister's door is good luck. So every day hundreds of hands caress the shiny brass knob.

RULING ON HOGS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Hogs subject to wa derlust on state highways and then forfeit their lives under some speeding automobile, do not constitute a liability on the state, according to a ruling made today by the State Highway commission. Numerous claims by ranchers for compensation for porkers killed by automobiles were disposed of today by this declaration of non-responsibility. "The life of a pig running loose on the highways is about three days," said State Engineer R. M. Morton. "It is the duty of ranchers to keep their animals off the roads. The commission is not responsible for the heavy mortality among swine that decline to remain at home."

EDUCATOR IS DEAD

BUCHAREST, Oct. 24.—Telegrams have been received here from all parts of the Near East, as well as from America and Europe, expressing regret at the death of Nicholas Mishu, a prominent member of the Rumanian government and formerly Rumanian ambassador to England. For many years he had taken a wide philanthropic interest in Neareastern questions, and was a contributor to the orphanage work of the Near East Relief among the Armenians. He spoke twelve Neareastern languages and was an authority on English and American history.

MARYLAND IS DOUBTFUL IN VOTE

Lawrence So Classes Border State Normally Classed As Democratic

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 24.—This is the first of the border states, normally Democratic, which should be classed as doubtful. It will not go by a large plurality to either Davis or Coolidge, and it seems certain that the outcome will be close enough to speak of a plurality and not a majority.

If there were two candidates in the field, Davis would win in a walk, but the La Follette candidacy probably will take enough votes from the Democrats to do the very thing the supporters of the third party ticket would not wish to do if they had to choose between Coolidge and Davis.

No better illustration of what the La Follette movement has done can be found than in a canvass of the banking and business sections of Baltimore. In their desire to administer a rebuke to radicalism and make certain the victory of a conservative, hundreds of normally Democratic business men and their families who admire Davis are going to ballot for Coolidge. There is a surprising amount of Coolidge sentiment in this city, which usually is so heavily Democratic that in most campaigns the totals obtained here are sufficiently large to cut down the Republican lead obtained in the rural districts.

From Both Sides

So the Democrats are in the unfortunate position of being invaded on both flanks. Many conservatives who think Coolidge is a symbol of continued business progress are saying among themselves that the Bryan part of the ticket is the reason for their defection. The truth is they have been affected by the La Follette scare and the urge is from the right with them, rather than the left, anyhow. As for labor, it votes the Democratic party more or less in a spirit of protest, and this time the La Follette party is attracting the protest voter much more strongly than the Democrats have done since the days of Bryan.

The voting in Maryland will illustrate what has been so often said about the inevitable in the Democratic party—that is, conservatives, especially in the northern border states, would ultimately be found in the bosom of the conservative brethren of the Republican party. There are, curiously enough, some Democratic acquisitions from an unexpected quarter.

Negroes for Democrats

Thousands of negroes will vote the Democratic ticket this year because John W. Davis has explicitly and unequivocally denounced the Ku Klux Klan, while President Coolidge has not done likewise. The Afro-American, one of the leading negro newspapers, with a circulation of about 40,000, is openly supporting Davis.

The Republican managers privately express the greatest confidence in their ability to carry the state. They are counting, of course, on defections from the regular Democratic vote to La Follette, especially in the "wet" districts, where the Wisconsin senator's "wetness" is being made much of in the hope of drawing votes away from Davis.

In some Democratic districts, outside of Baltimore, the precinct polls show a number of losses from Davis to Coolidge. To some extent this will be offset by farm votes in Republican districts going from Coolidge to La Follette. There are also some local factors which may help the Democrats. Representative Zihlman, Republican, was nominated after a hard factional fight. This may mean defections. Also in the district represented by Sydney Mudd, who died last week, the Democrats have nominated a strong candidate in Stephen B. Gambrill.

The congressional representation is evenly divided between the Republicans and Democrats. The vote of the state of Maryland in the event the election were thrown into the house of representatives, would then be tied and not counted, so the Democratic national organization has put its energies behind the candidacy of Gambrill, all of which may tend to win Davis some votes.

Governor Ritchie, Democrat, is working hard to carry the state for Davis. He himself won by more than 50,000 last year, so one can see a Democratic victory is by no means unusual. The governor is expected to run for the United States senate in a couple of years, too, so he has a double interest in holding the state in the regular Democratic column. Whether the other Democratic leaders are toiling as hard for the Davis candidacy is a matter of much speculation, for it has been known to happen in Maryland that sundry Democratic leaders grew apathetic as business interests tightened up on funds and turned their eyes elsewhere in a presidential campaign.

RENEW CIGARETTE WAR

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Leaders of the National Anti-Cigarette League are planning a "memorial" to their late president, Lucy Page Gaston, in the form of a strenuous nationwide renewal of their fight against the cigarette. Announcing the preliminaries of the call to battle, the nation was warned that "If the overwhelming increase in the use of cigarettes is not immediately checked the welfare of the whole nation will be seriously impaired."

CHILD-BRIDES ARE FORCED TO SCHOOL

Chicago Education Officials Take Measures to Stop Flapper Weddings

By O. L. SCOTT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Child-brides, the bane of Oriental countries, whose numbers have recently been increasing by leaps and bounds in this land, are going to have their married careers nipped in the bud by the nation's schools.

This opinion of William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education in Chicago, he has backed up by forcing nearly 80 young wives under 16 years of age, back into classes. That, he explained is just a starter in a movement that will spread over the country to head off the youngsters who are so suddenly taking impetuous leaps into matrimony before they realize what they are doing.

At the convention November 11 to 16 in Windsor, Ontario, of the International League of Compulsory Education officials, Mr. Bodine said that he will introduce a resolution calling upon all educational officers to enforce rigidly state laws on compulsory education which in most commonwealths would force children to attend classes up until they are 16. He is certain of almost unanimous support.

Marriage Belt

"Right now these marrying parsons will do anything a cradle robber will ask of them for a few dollars," said the superintendent, who has undertaken to lead the fight against child marriages. "There's a regular marrying belt around Chicago at Waukegan, Kenosha, Crown Point, Valparaiso.

"Kindergarten flappers who think there's something romantic about marriage, children enticed by men, girls forced by designing parents to take a man, anyone, it seems, can get married by these parsons if they'll just show a license.

"But there is one thing these youngsters must remember—if they intend to come to Chicago, they must be prepared to go back to school. Husbands are responsible for their wives' attendance up until they reach the age of 16. Any attempt to dodge schooling for husband and wife alike, if they both are under 16 means legal punishment.

Cradle Robber Jolted

"What a jolt lies in store for some of these cradle robbers can be seen from the case of Lewis Mendicano, who eloped with Antonette Preso, a 13-year-old girl.

The judge decided that even though the couple had gone to Indiana to be married, the marriage was illegal because the child was under age and the license obtained by perjury. Then he turned around and sentenced the man to one year in the Bridewell for contributing to the delinquency of a child.

"In another case where the mother forced her young daughter to marry, falsely swearing on her license, the judge sentenced the mother to the Bridewell. There are dozens of cases where these child wives have had to forsake their housekeeping for the school room.

"And also there are a good many of the girls who've been disillusioned. One recently found that all her husband wanted was her pay envelope. She had the marriage annulled and is back in school.

Kindergarten Wives

"The kindergarten flappers are so young that they usually pick lemons when they enter the garden of love, and wake up with a thud when they realize what they've done. Then there are men who marry these little girls and desert them.

"Compulsory education has furnished the best way to stop this rape of childhood. When men realize that their wives will have to spend their time in school instead of in some job, they'll be less likely to jump into matrimony.

"Chicago, like most other cities, has a compulsory education law, but here, unlike a good many other cities, it is enforced. Let all cities require their children to attend school up to the required limit and they will cut their child marriages to almost nothing. We have had that experience here from our crusade to force school attendance of baby wives and think that other places will have the same results."

SUES MOTHER-IN-LAW

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Ordered from her home by her husband's mother, Mrs. Margaret C. Quill filed suit in the superior court today against her mother-in-law, Rosina Quill, for $60,000 heart balm and alleged the defendant alienated the affections of the plaintiff's husband, Oliver J. Quill. After her marriage about a year ago, the young couple went to live at the home of Mrs. Rosina Quill at Downey, according to the complaint, which recited that on August 23, last, the defendant told her daughter-in-law that she "could get out of there just as soon as she wanted to." The younger Mrs. Quill stated she refused to leave, but on August 28 she was commanded to go and did so under threats by her mother-in-law, according to the complaint.

GERMAN CRIME WAVE

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Berlin was hit hardest by the German crime wave. During the last year no less than a hundred thousand crimes have been brought to the notice of the Berlin police, according to statistics issued by Berlin police headquarters. Half of all cases are thefts of various shades. Police returns of 1923 show an alarming increase of crimes against 1922 reports. The increase of crimes in 1923 is attributed to the demoralizing effect of the inflation period, which reached its climax in the preceding year. It is generally assumed that with the return to normal currency and decreasing unemployment l wbreaking cases will be considerably reduced.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Oct. 24.—A party of Los Angeles real estate men, guided by O. J. Renfrew, secretary of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando valley, gave this city the "once over" Tuesday afternoon, with the aid of President Charles B. Wood and Manager J. W. Charleville of the local Chamber of Commerce.

President Wood of the local chamber extended the visitors a hearty welcome to the city, and took advantage of the occasion to tell them something of the growth and advantages of Burbank as an industrial center.

Mr. Renfrew, who had been with the party all day, gave the visitors an inkling of the street and park program which the people of the San Fernando valley, co-operating with the Los Angeles city and county planning commissions, are working out at the present time.

Plans are now being laid for the first of a series of sacred programs by the choir of the Burbank Methodist church, it is announced by Mrs. Zephyr Sparrow.

Of interest to his many friends here is the announcement just received of the marriage of Dr. Elton Russell Clarke of Burbank and Miss Ruth Carolyn Holman, daughter of Mrs. Eva W. Holman of Kokomo, Ind., which was solemnized October 11 at Kokomo.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, old-time residents in Burbank, and among the best-known people in the city, have subdivided their five-acre property on which they have lived for many years. The map for the tract has been presented to the city trustees for approval and accepted.

SPORT COAT MINUS FUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Here and there, in a furred season, one comes today upon a wearer of a sports coat looking all the smarter for having no fur at all. Such is a heavy coat of black Scotch woolen, trimmed only by a gray and black plaid lining of wool which turns back to form revers.

U. S. and State Aid 17,412 High Students

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—Federal and state aid in vocational and industrial education was given to 17,412 high school students in California last year to the extent of $246,475.50, according to the biennial report of Nicholas Riccardi, state commissioner of industrial and vocational education. This total represents an increase of almost 16,000 students as compared with the year 1918. Students receiving agricultural instruction in the high schools under this plan numbered 1938; technical trade and industrial instruction was given 4637 and 10,837 were given special training in home making.

"YE MARKET" TO HAVE BRILLIANT OPENING

CALIFORNIA'S MOST UNIQUE MARKET WILL WELCOME GREAT FESTIVAL CROWDS

Ye Market Place, Destined to Be the Talk of the Country, Will Commence Business Amid Music and Frolic

With every division heavily stocked. "Ye Market Place," at 126 Los Feliz boulevard, will open tomorrow, Saturday. All arrangements for one of the happiest and most spectacular openings ever given to a market place in the state of California are completed. Bands will play for the pleasure and entertainment of the big crowds, from early morning till closing hours.

Owing to its originality, this market promises to become famous. There is nothing exactly like it, for modern facilities in the state; in fact, it is doubtful if there is anything that can be compared with it in the Union.

Ye Market Place will undoubtedly be the mecca of Glendale's buying public. It also will unquestionably attract tourists and be one of the feature buildings of the Fastest Growing City in the World.

Parking Space Galore

"Did you ever see such parking space in your life?" asked Mr. Ennison, one of the market's directing heads. "There is fifteen thousand feet of space for free auto parking. As a matter of fact, it was the inconvenience and irritation that we all endure when we buy at markets where one has to hunt and pick for a parking space at the curb, that really animated the building of this original market place. Marketing isn't like it used to be. It has changed like everything else is changing. The coming of the automobile, especially in the great numbers that exist in Glendale and Los Angeles, necessitates new conveniences for the buying world that comes shopping in automobiles.

"We realized this by experience, and it was decided to build a market that did away with the Saturday night fight for parking space in order to buy the family eatables. We have enough space here to accommodate very large crowds in an easy and comfortable manner. All that the patrons of the market need to do is simply to drive in, right up to the very department or concession that they desire, and buy or order their goods and drive out. Another feature you will notice is that every concession is held by great and reputable houses. Most of them are of national or state repute. A housewife can enter this market place and buy every last thing for her kitchen and table, and when I say the finest that money can buy, I mean it. We have a $5000 refrigerating system that positively assures perfect storage."

Great Marketing Center

Asked if there would be any time limit on parking, Mr. Ennison replied, "Absolutely none. Besides, just consider how convenient it is for the shopper to buy at the market. She may find other markets that have many concessions, but I doubt if there is a market anywhere in the country that is so complete as to make but one stop of the automobile all that is necessary to buy all that one needs for a family of the most epicurean taste. We are perfectly satisfied that this market will be one of the busiest markets in the country. Once the families of Glendale become accustomed to the rare qualities, prices and pleasant conveniences that this market place offers, you may be assured that it will be almost impossible to attract them to the old styles."

Speaking of the rest rooms, Mr. Ennison continued:

"Yes, the rest rooms are perfect. In fact, they are a fine illustration of the combined efforts that everyone concerned with the building of this market has put forward to make this great buying center homelike, in beauty, convenience and comfort. This market is the last thing in the art of marketing buildings, besides the very latest in scientific arrangement, distribution and sanitary perfection."

Finest Houses Have Concessions

All concessions have been let to accepted leaders in their lines. One of the concessions is being handled by the well-known house of Young's Market Co. This large concern was the first to build and operate a market in the city of Glendale. It has been serving for no less than twenty years. It buys from the "rest of the world, to sell the best in the world." The firm never has, and likely never will handle anything but the finest quality that money can buy.

Rabin Bros.' Delicatessen

Another concession is devoted to the dainties of delicatessen. This important division of the market is under the able proprietorship of Rabin Bros. Their display cases are the most magnificent store fixtures ever installed in any house of business anywhere. The glass curves into a beautiful sixty-foot arc or semi-circle, and behind this masterpiece of glass is a truly wonderful display of cooked and prepared foods. They are direct importers from France, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, India, England, China and Japan.

Morrison Grocery Concession

Nothing need to be said of the recognized service and quality of goods that E. A. Morrison, grocer, is noted for throughout the state. The concession held by this concern will naturally be a feature of the market place. E. A. Morrison started business away back in 1909, in Hollywood, when that now famous home of picture production was but an orange grove. There were no lights, sewers or paved streets then, but as that great city became big and powerful, so E. A. Morrison grew, until the firm is now recognized as one of the great business houses of California.

Bakery Concession to New England Bakery

The bakery concession will be in the skilled and able hands of the New England Bakery. The name and splendid products of the New England Bakery is almost a byword in the United States. Mr. Myers, the manager, who has opened up bakeries throughout the length and breadth of the land, informed us that a baker formerly with him in Boston came all this way to supervise this kitchen. They will make birthday and wedding cakes a specialty.

College Graduates Handle Fruit

The fruit and vegetable concession is under the proprietorship of Schuyler & Harshmer, two college graduates, who have entered the fruit and vegetable business and are making a remarkable success. They have applied their education and training to the business, and have not flinched from the most arduous tasks, for they do their own buying and managing. They are to be seen at midnight in the wholesale vegetable markets, buying and choosing the best for their patrons, and early the following day they are on the job, giving courtesy and service to the buying public.

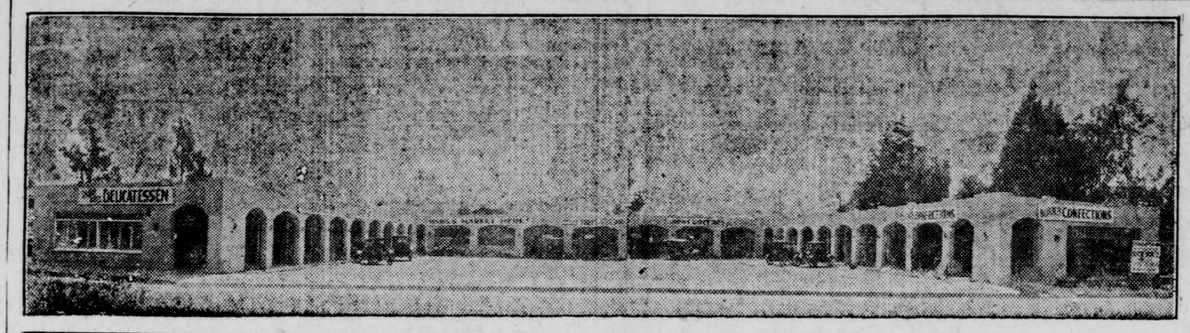
Mr. Russell, who is handling the Russell Kitchen Equipment store in the market place, has had thirty-five years' experience in this line of business. There is nothing in the household department line but what he is thoroughly conversant with. He has managed some of America's largest department stores. "For the kitchen" is the store's slogan.

Barbe's confections promises to be one of the fine features of the market place. Mr. Barabe is a master in his line, having served the California public in his various stores for the past twenty years. He takes great pride in supervising every one of his stores, although the list is growing longer with every year. This concession will serve hot lunches, candy, soda, cigars and cigarettes.

Ye Market Place Florist will be one of the colorful and beautiful corners of the great institute. There will be every kind of cut and fresh flowers, besides a goodly display of ferns.

Beautifully Illuminated

The market will be beautifully illuminated, both by electric lights and torches on the opening day, and big crowds will undoubtedly flood the finest market of California tomorrow morning and throughout the day.



THIS REMARKABLE MARKET BUILDING IS OF SPANISH ARCHITECTURE, DESIGNED AND PLANNED TO MEET THE NEEDS OF A TWENTIETH CENTURY PUBLIC. IT IS THE VERY LATEST WORD OF SCIENCE AND BUILDING ART IN MARKETING ACCOMMODATION. THE CONSTRUCTION WORK WAS DONE BY THE BUILDING FIRM OF MALCOLM SMITH CO., AND THE ARCHITECTURE AND DESIGN IS TO THE CREDIT OF M. MALTZMAN.

To say the least "Ye Market Place" is a marked innovation in market facilities and buildings in California, and to be more exact, it is a distinct recommendation to the creative ability of its designer and architect in conjunction with the person or persons who conceived the idea of a market place that would accommodate the "twentieth century automobile shopper." We believe that this market place will receive the highest form of flattery by its being standardized throughout the state. It is the very newest thing in convenience, sanitation and efficiency in distribution. The modernity of the place makes it actually beautiful. Polished glass, white tile, handsome fixtures are everywhere, making the place a very haven of "perfect cleanliness."

Of stone tile construction, with an exterior finish of California stucco, the market building is designed in Spanish architecture. The exterior finish is evidently a popular favorite, considering the large number of fine buildings that are being built and decorated in this manner throughout the state of California. The Market Place building covers an area of 192 by 168 feet, while the central court yard for auto parking covers 112 by 128 feet.

An important feature of the building is a ten foot arcade connecting each of the twenty-nine stores and providing easy access to the various concessions. The arcade also incorporates elaborate entrances to the rest rooms, for the convenience of ladies and gentlemen.

The excellent refrigerating system of this really ultra modern market building assures its patrons that every last item in the form of eatables will be kept at all times in a perfect condition.

The market will be a "land mark" at night, owing to the unusually fine illumination. The building will be radiant with electric lights, almost fairy-like in appearance, shining out along the great highways leading to the "Fastest Growing City in the World."

The reputable building house of Malcolm Smith Co. constructed the market place, while M. Maltzman, who is rapidly winning for himself recognition in the architectural world, was the designer and architect.

Toledo Scales In Ye Market Place Assure Accuracy In Weight

Realizing that it is of prime importance that all weighing transactions be absolutely exact and that it is of common interest to themselves and the general public that this be the case, the managers of Ye Market Place decided to use the world renowned Toledo scales.

The market is equipped with the very latest in these famous scales, thus assuring the buying public of exact quantities as well as quality. These ingenious weighing machines that have no springs show not only the correct weight but the computed value of the purchase.

These scales are not affected in the slightest by temperature, and, therefore, remain uniformly true the whole year around.

"The Ye Market Place is a credit to the city of Glendale," said Mr. Asher, the representative of the Toledo Scales Co., "and it is a further proof of the accuracy of our scales that such a concern decided to use them. Of course our scales are now being used throughout the world because of their unquestioned perfection, and it was only to be expected that a modern market of this nature would naturally install our machines."

TEACHERS SEE GREECE

ATHENS, Oct. 24.—Six hundred American school teachers have visited Greece during the past summer. This is the largest number since pre-war times, when travel to Greece was comparatively cheap. In addition to a program of visits to the museums and ruins of classic Greece, all the teachers have studied the refugee and orphanage school work of the Near East Relief in Greece. Lectures were provided on the application of modern child-welfare methods to Near Eastern countries.

Temporary deafness caused by the explosions of an airplane motor, may be averted by the placing of powder puffs over the ears, says an expert.

American Wire and Iron Works Supplied Gates of Big Market

Among the great and growing industries of Los Angeles the American Wire and Iron Works ranks in an important position. Purveyors and producers of ornamental iron, bank and office railing, folding gates, grilles, wickets, fire escapes and heavy wire cloth, this important industry is supplying a large portion of the needs of the builders of California. It is the payroll of such companies that put solid foundations to great and growing cities.

The American Wire and Iron Works is represented in Glendale by Mr. Lunn, who is perfectly satisfied with general business conditions in this progressive city. He complimented the proprietors of the Ye Market Place on their modern and perfect market and manifested keen delight in the fact that the American Wire and Iron Works manufactured and installed all the gates that are a feature of the market.

Ball bearings of stainless steel are now possible where the load carried is light.

MASSIVE ROOF WAS LAID BY LOCAL COMPANY

Custer-Pesch Roofing House Of Glendale Responsible For Market Roof

The extensive roofing construction of Ye Market Place on Los Feliz boulevard was performed by the Custer-Pesch Roof Co. of 12.. East Colorado boulevard. This company, which is now conducting many large roofing jobs in southern California, is a creditable member of the Glendale Builders' exchange, and has merited through the years of skillful construction the slogan of "Quality and Service" which they use as a guide in all their undertakings.

"There was more than twenty-five thousand feet of roofing in that remarkable market place," said Bailey Custer, "and we used more than 6,000 pounds of felt and 40,000 pounds of asphalt."

Mr. Custer has a close companion and business colleague in Mrs. Custer, who, at all times, manifests a keen interest in the progress and undertakings of the Custer-Pesch Roof Co. Happily situated in this great and growing city, Mr. Custer is a keen booster of civic projects and his courtesy and thoughtfulness for everyone with whom he comes in contact assure him of continued success in the further development of Glendale.

It will be of interest to know that it was the firm of Custer-Pesch that did the roofing on Glendale's finest court, namely, the Graff apartments. They were also responsible for the work on the Bunning building and the Glengarry hotel.

Mr. Custer also said: "It is a great mistake to consider a slightly worn roof beyond repair and go to the expense of putting on a brand new one. As a matter of fact there is no roof, it matters not how old it is, but what it can be fixed. We have had the most satisfying success in our repair work. In fact, we make it a specialty to fix old and worn roofing. After it is repaired with care and proper workmanship it will last for years and stand under the most inclement weather. We always make it a point to advise repairs when and wherever they are possible and by so doing we save our hundreds of patrons money which would be spent otherwise in new roofing."

Verdugo Electric Co. Illuminated Big Market

The Verdugo Electric Co., one of Glendale's foremost electrical contracting firms, installed and completed the extensive power and electrical illumination in the "Ye Market Place." This electrical firm, under the able management of Mr. Walton, is credited with some of the biggest electrical jobs of the state. Granting the many striking features of this market, nevertheless, there will be nothing more attractive than the perfect lighting of power generation that is part of this great public buying place. Mr. Walton is manifesting with each recurring year his mastery of the electrical business.

MARKET PLACE IS CONSTRUCTED BY SMITH COMPANY

Building and Financial Firm Constructing Dwellings And Limit Buildings

Among the outstanding buildings that have been constructed by Malcolm Smith Co, the builders and architects of Ye Market Place, are such fine structures as the Graff Court, unquestionably Glendale's foremost apartment house, and the Blivens Court on Glendale avenue. The Graff court is a Class E building of twenty-one units, whilst the Blivens court combines fifteen units. This house of financiers and builders also has under counstruction the Maryland Apartment Hotel, a Class E structure of thirty-three apartments, four stores, dining room, cafe and spacious lobby, besides an exceptionally large undertaking in Long Beach.

The head offices of the company at 6665 Sunset boulevard, Hollywood, exemplify to some degree the delicate tastes and mature building conceptions of this reputable house. The interior decorations suggest the pride and skill, the service and quality, that are self-evident watchwords in the firm of Malcolm Smith Co.

"The market place on Los Feliz boulevard, Glendale, is without doubt unique, inasmuch as there is no other market exactly patterned after the same design in all the state," said Mr. Malzman, the architect and designer of Malcolm Smith Co. "Built strictly in Spanish architecture, it certainly provides the greatest accommodation to the public that in ninety cases out of one hundred do their shopping by automobile in these days. Nothing has been spared that would further the convenience and accessibility of the market. You are referred to the exceptionally fine rest rooms for an example. You will also find that the brilliant illumination of this market will be a regular landmark at night, providing attraction along the highways leading into your great metropolis."

The general superintendent of the company is H. B. Conrady. Miss Eva Colvin, well known to Glendale people, besides making out the voluminous rolls of specification work that leave this building firm, admirably fills the role of meeting the public at the company's head office.

TEACHERS IN PARLEY AT WHITTIER

Glendale Delegation Is Paid Compliment for Work at Reading Circle

Glendale was prominent yesterday at the conference of the First district, Parent-Teachers associations at Whittier high school, with a delegation of fifty Glendale P. T. A. executives including a state chairman, district officers and chairmen in attendance.

Glendale was complimented for the live parliamentary drill on constitutions by local associations and federations, conducted by Mrs. A. H. Brown, who is district parliamentarian and for the round table demonstration of reading circle work given by Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, and eighteen members of the Mutual Benefit Reading circle.

The reading circle demonstration which was one of the features of the day, brought inquiries to Mrs. Henry and her assistants on the organization and conduct of a reading circle.

Prominent Speakers

Of great value to the women attending the conference were the addresses by Dr. Dexter, president of Whittier college, and Dr. Merriam Van Waters. Dr. Dexter spoke on child development, and Dr. Van Waters on prevention of delinquency.

Among those attending from Glendale were: Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of the Glendale federation; Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., state chairman of child labor and legislation; Mrs. A. H. Brown, district parliamentarian; Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, district auditor; Mrs. E. B. Moore, district publicity chairman; Mrs. W. A. Kulp, district extension chairman; Mrs. Pomeroy, district scholarship chairman; Mrs. H. V. Henry, district chairman of reading circles.

Program follows: "Fight On" and "The Cardinal and Gold" by the club; eccentric dancing by Harry Hall; "Song of Songs" (Moya) and "When My Ships Come Sailing Home" (Dorel) by Julian Marshall, tenor; "The Bandelero" and "Bells of the Sea" (Lamb) by Everett Leighton, bass; "A Dream" (Bartlett) and "Who Knows?" (Ball) by Louis Silva, tenor; "Waters of Minnetonka," "Marcheta" and "The World Is Waiting For the Sunrise" by Robert Parrett, banjoist; "Three Cheers For S. C.," "Johnny Schmoker" and "All Hail to Alma Mater."

Interesting Meetings At Christian Church

Interesting meetings are held every night, except Saturday, at the Christian church, corner Edenhurst and Gardenside lane, Angelus park, with J. W. Otter, former pastor of the Central Christian church of Glendale, as pastor. On Monday night Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Glendale church, his choir and several church members had charge of the meeting. The new church will be dedicated November 2.

Emerson School Head To Rehearse Operetta

Dr. Von Liebich, of the Emerson School of Self-Expression, will direct the children's chorus presenting an operetta for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. building fund. All Glendale children who like to sing are invited to join, free of charge. Rehearsals will be held at the Emerson school, 732 South Glendale avenue, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Latta Entertains Friends at Playhouse

Mrs. A. C. Latta of Long Beach and Mrs. F. C. Reid of Walnut Park were guests yesterday of Mrs. S. G. Latta of 725 North Maryland avenue. In the evening Mrs. Latta and her guests attended the performance of the Dobinson Players at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre.

Don't let constipation make you an invalid —relieve it with Kellogg's Bran

Few people realize how dangerous is constipation until this dread disease tears down their health. Did you know that more than forty serious diseases can be traced to constipation?

Keep your health, or restore it, with Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. It brings relief in mild and chronic cases of constipation. It is effective because it is ALL bran. That is why it is recommended so highly by doctors. They know that only ALL bran can bring 100 per cent results. Part bran is, at best, only a halfway measure.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran will bring permanent relief—even in the most chronic case. It is guaranteed to do so. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Because it is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. Like nature, it acts naturally. It makes the intestine function regularly.

Eat it every day—two tablespoonfuls—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Enjoy it in those wonderful recipes given on every package.

The flavor of Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is delicious. It is crisp, nut-like. Quite different from ordinary brans, which are so unpalatable. Kellogg's Bran is made in Battle Creek and served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Sold by all grocers.

Reel Stars Are Married

MARIE PREVOST and KENNETH HARLAN, insert, who are stars in their own right in filmdom, were married recently in Los Angeles, but they didn't surprise their friends a bit. Everybody knew they were going to wed.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Marie Prevost and Kenneth Harlan didn't surpise anyone in Hollywood when they invested a dollar in a marriage license.

It has been talked in the film colony for some time that Ken, broad-chested screen hero, and Marie, piquant film vamp, were wavering on the edge of matrimony.

Marie discarded her first husband and the name of Marie B. Gerke some time ago. Harlan recently divorced his wife, Flo Hart, vaudeville performer.

State Police Request Indianian Held Here

Harry H. Bricker, a recent arrival from Fort Wayne, Ind., is being held by Glendale police following receipt by Chief John D. Fraser of a telegram from Chief Humes of the Indiana state police, requesting his apprehnesion as a fugitive from justice.

Bricker, who is wanted for having a stolen car in his possession, claims there must be some mistake as he says he purchased the car from a Fort Wayne dealer. He had come from Indiana in the car, with his wife and a small child and was stopping at a Glendale automobile camp at time of his arrest. A deputy is on his way from Indiana to take Bricker back, Chief Fraser stated.

Legion Will Initiate Largest Class Tonight

The largest class of candidates ever initiated by the Glendale Post, No. 127, American Legion, will become members tonight when the ceremonial work will be put on at 333 North Brand boulevard under the direction of W. H. Regelin, first vice commander of the post. More than 100 applications are on file. Legionairres from posts at Owensmouth, Eagle Rock, Verdugo Hills, Tujunga, Lamanda Park, Burbank and Post No. 8 of Los Angeles, will be present. Commander Joseph Wilson will preside. The new ritual will be used.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Lance and Lute, local honorary dramatic fraternity at the University of Southern California, last night was installed as the fourteenth chapter of the National College Players, one of the foremost dramatic fraternities. Twelve members of the local fraternity were initiated.

War on gambling has reached a serious stage in Los Angeles. Sergeant S. A. Sheffield and crew of policemen swooped down on a house on East Twenty-third street and took in custody nine negroes charged with shooting craps. It was a penny ante game and the pot totaled 19 cents!

Roy A. Cain, self-asserted doctor of chiropractic, is in the city jail here while police are investigating charges of an alleged lottery he is said to have staged at Venice pier. He is also accused of having insulted girls whom eh entertained at his apartment, according to police.

Judge Carlos V. Hardy today sentenced H. P. Griffith, son of wealthy Gardena parents, to three years in the county jail for driving his motor car while intoxicated. The sentence to the county oad gang, the judge explained, was in lieu of a penitentiary term, and he believed it would save Griffith "from himself."

Pat Doyle, foreman of the Yale street yard of the department of public works, gets the credit for having invented a new type of street sign which has been adopted by the City Council. The name plates will be set on top of the post, one aobe the other at an angle with the street and teh perforated letters will make readable day or night from any vantage point.

Dance halls in Los Angeles county will hereafter "toe the mark." Jupervisor Jack Bean today demanded that officers see they closed promptly at 1 a. m., and any reported infractions of liquor laws will result in their permits being rescinded.

BILLBOARDS BATTLE IS RENEWED

Councilman Davis Objects To Application Read By City Clerk

The billboard controversy once more agitated the City Council yesterday afternoon, when applications of the Hi-Way Display Co. and the Piggly Wiggly Co. for this type of outdoor display were inadvertently read before that body by the city clerk, although they had already been passed upon favorably by H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent, and had been approved by the City Planning commission, as provided in the ordinance governing this matter.

"Billboards are a disgrace to the city and I am going to stand against them as long as I remain on the council," declared Councilman S. A. Davis, who was absent from Glendale when the ordinance was passed. "I don't propose to see the city bluffed out by the billboard trust. As soon as I got out of town they sprung this ordinance. I fought it for two years. I am dead against it and I want to move that these applications be denied."

Would Amend Law

When told that the council had no jurisdiction in the matter, Councilman Davis offered a motion amending the billboard ordinance to give the council instead of the Planning commission the power of granting or denying requests for the erection of billboards within the city limits, but was persuaded by Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman C. E. Kimlin to withdraw his motion, on the promise that the matter would be taken up at the session of Tuesday, October 28.

John W. Henderson was awarded the contract for the sidewalks on Sycamore Canyon road. The application of the Southern California Edison Co. for a franchise for a transmission line extension was granted and the city attorney ordered to prepare the necessary ordinance.

Business Districts

Ordinances were passed creating a business district on Western avenue and removing certain property from the first class district. Applications for business districts on East Broadway from Olive street to Verdugo road and for Wilson avenue and East Broadway were denied. Applications for business districts on Arden avenue from Pacific to Columbus avenues and from Columbus to Central avenues, were approved.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Little will be left of the St. Paul team, winner of the American association in 1924, and of the class AA series with Baltimore, when the majors get through with it.

Christensen, an outfielder who has been with St. Paul for two years, may be lost by transfer. Nuen, first baseman, goes to Detroit, and the Tigers must stick to him this time ,because he has been sent to the minors twice and under the rules cannot be put out on option again. Dressen will go to Cincinnati as third baseman.

Lee, the hard-hitting St. Paul outfielder, will go to Cleveland via the draft route. Roettger, the pitcher, reverts to the New York Yanks, who placed him in St. Paul when they made their deal for Markle.

Other St. Paul players may be lost, too, when the majors get through looking them over. But probably that will not bother the club much, since this year's American association champions appear to have a management with the faculty of taking hold of nothing and converting it into substance.

Last winter, at the meeting of the minors, which was held in Chicago, St. Paul was complaining of the little hope it had of winning anything in the American association. Nick Allen was made manager and he has nothing much to work on except two or three players and a lot of promises. At least that was the report given out. Yet he finished the season by bagging the pennant in a hot race. He certainly seems to have a good chance to build up from nothing again next spring.

The Baltimore club of the International league also will be riddled by the majors. Groves, their prime southpaw, has gone to the Athletics, and before the next season begins there are likely to be other vacancies in the line, including one at shortstop. The Brooklyns must have a shortstop next season and it may be Boley of Baltimore if things break right.

Auto Accessories Are Quiet Now, Is Report

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24.—Motor accessories plants report business quiet. The largest plant making bumpers, axles and springs estimates its rate of production at 60 per cent of capacity with orders running at about the same rate. The motor parts industry now is doing a business of about $2,000,000,000 a year, of which $1,500,000,000 represents sales to motor manufacturers.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—Trading in Edison bonds was most active this morning with prices firm on the Los Angeles Stock and Bond Exchange. Close to 40,000 bonds were sold of this favorite with a scattered field among other utilities indicating traders are not speculating at the present moment.

In the stocks Holly Development, a lively oil issue, took a ride downward this morning and stopped at $1.06 with the bears in command of the situation following its recent upward movement.

Los Angeles Investment was firm at $3.80 and $3.81 is being asked this afternoon.

Oils and utilities were lightly sold at firm prices and the only two real active mining issues showed further firmness in the market. Oatman United brought $14.50 and Gold Dust gained ½ in selling at 3½ cents.

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The grain market continued its downward trend today with but brief interruptions and closed with all grains selling 3 cents or more under yesterday's close. Wheat had crashed under the much touted $1.50 mark, the May delivery closing at $1.46, the lowest points in a considerable time. Wheat finished 1¼ to 3⅛ cents lower. Corn finished 3⅝ to 3¾ off: Oats finished 3 to 3¾ lower. Provisions were lower with corn. Trade moderate.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The New York boxing commission apparently is not coming out of the McTigue-Berlenbach match without a laugh against that body. It seems, in brief, to be contemplating another about face.

Tunney, when McTigue tried to make his match with Berlenbach, went to the boxing commission and pleaded his prior engagement with the world's light-heavyweight champion. The commission thereupon ordered McTigue to meet Tunney first, or words to this effect.

Then when the McTigue-Berlenbach plan was again brought up, the commission said it would sanction the fight if Gene would agree to stand aside for sixty days.

Did Gene agree? Sure. He had to. But McTigue is not altogether pleased with the scheme. He points to a commission ruling allowing a titleholder six months' grace between contests in defense of his title, and does not think he has been treated right in being forced to meet Tunney two months after he has fought Berlenbach. Such is the plight of champions—provided they don't happen to be Dempsey or Benny Leonard.

The Madison Square Garden management has a smooth way of going right ahead and booking shows without reference to the boxing commission and then smoothing things over when called to account.

Out west they are not doing any preliminary mourning for Jock Malone, the St. Paul boxing flash, in view of his coming meeting with Mickey Walker. They recognize Mickey's ability, but they have the idea that, with Jock's cleverness, he figures to upset the champion.

Jock, by the way, got an awful cold in Boston the night he fought Johnny Wilson. He bet he would jump into the river with all his clothes on if he lost the decision. He lost and into the river went Jock.

SIGHTLESS LAWYER

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 24.—A blind man has just passed the state bar examinations and been admitted to practice before Idaho courts. He is Don Carlos Haddock of Paris, Bear Lake county, who lost his eyesight several years ago by the explosion of his shotgun while hunting. He passed with splendid marks.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Industrial stocks today reflected the feeling of the financial district of confidence in the country's business and industrial situation.

There was no special incentive to follow stocks to much higher price levels and after slight gains had been made in pivotal stocks in the early trading the whole market turned dull and the volume of transactions showed a considerable decline.

The market was inclined to give more attention today to the record of earnings of industrial companies in the third quarter of the year, some of which have been very disappointing.

Crucible steel yielded about 2 points and sugar stocks were again irregular, but on the whole the bears made little progress.

Copper producers stood out for higher prices for the red metal today.

Judge Gary's remarks at the Steel Institute meeting, in which he reported an increase in October steel business as compared with September, and President Coolidge's plea for drastic reduction of taxes struck a responsive chord in the speculative district. Steel common sold above 108 on heavy trading. Oils were reactionary on profit-taking, but prices on the whole were well maintained.

Sales today, 848,500 shares; bonds $10,648,000.

BURGLAR IS CAUGHT

DUNSMUIR, Cal, Oct. 24.—Berkeley officers have been notified by Captain of Detectives Hallanan that Karl W. Black, the "absent-minded" burglar, who defeated Chief of Police Vollmer's efforts while in the Berkeley jail to entrap him with the "lie detector," was arrested while entering a local hotel with two suitcases filled with jewelry and furs which the local police say were stolen in the bay district. On his person was found a clipping from an Oakland newspaper telling how he had defeated efforts to prove him a burglar with the aid of the "lie detector." Just prior to his arrest, Black called at the postoffice and received a package containing jewelry, while detectives watched him. Captain Hallanan believes Black mailed this package to himself from Berkeley a few days after his release from jail.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

By Southland News Service

Demand for alcohol for anti-freeze solutions in automobile radiators has boosted the price to a new high peak. Distillers are behind in orders and near beer brewers are finding ready market for their by-product.

Oklahoma, Tennessee, Northern Missisippi and Georgia report the first killing freeze in the cotton fields, but so far the cotton market has failed to respond, despite the prediction of more frost.

L. Darnell Co. of New York have a commission to bet $60,000 to $10,000 that Coolidge will be the next president, it is reported.

The U. S. Hoffman Machinery Co. declared an initial dividend of $1.75 on preferred, payable December 1, stock of record November 20.

W. C. Durant, well known in California, has been elected to the board of directors of the American Safety Razor corporation.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

SWELLING FEET AND ANKLES

"Dear Doctor: During the hot weather I suffered untold agony with swelling feet and ankles. Have had physical examinations and urinalyses made, and as yet the only remedy suggested has been—high shoes. Have just recently had a thorough examination and the report was o. k., and the doctor seemed unable to account for the swelling.

"I have tried Swedish massage, osteopath treatments, foot massage, and everything that has been suggested to me, except the high shoes.

"I am a daily reader of your column, and have reduced several pounds by your system. If you can help me out of my heat foot troubles, I will be deeply grateful.—L. M. M."

You evidently suffer from a dermatitis (skin inflammation) accompanied by swelling, from the sunlight. This is not uncommon. Why certain persons should be susceptible to the sunlight in this way is not known, but there is probably much disturbance of the chemistry of the body.

You say you have reduced several pounds. Are you still overweight, and in your reducing diet are you careful to have your calories from the proper foods? Occasionally I find that some people have the impression that if one is reducing by the "calorie system" it does not make any difference what foods one eats, so long as one doesn't exceed one's reducing number of calories. This is very pernicious.

It's a nuisance to think you must wear high shoes next summer, but if I were you, I certainly would do it. Try bathing your feet in hot water containing a tablespoonful of epsom salts to the pint, every night.

KEEP UP YOUR EXERCISING

"Dear Doctor: One year ago May, I wrote you for a booklet on reducing. At the time I wrote you I weighed 227 and I had been weighing that amount for a number of years. I had tried a number of times to reduce, but, somehow or other, I always failed.

"But this time I just stuck to it and did exactly as your wonderful little booklet instructed. The first week I lost nine pounds, and I lost each week after that until Christmas, when I got down in weight to 138 pounds and how I seem to stay around that. Some weeks I do run up a pound or so. But I will say I look and feel much better.

"My tummy is fine. At first, I cut out all rich, sweet food and fats, and when I saw I could keep my weight at 138, I would eat a piece of cake or pie, but I never let my calories go above 1200 or 1300 a day. At times, my old friends do not seem to recognize me when they go by me in the street. Fat people to whom I have never spoken, and who live close by, have watched me reduce, not understanding how it all came about, and now I have got them all doing it.

"I also did some exercises, but have stopped now as I know I can keep my weight where I want it. I am 34 years old and my height is five feet, four inches. My total loss is 87 pounds. At any time if anybody wants to verify this, they can call on me and give me the once over.—Mrs. L. C."

It seem to me you ought to be able to eat more than 1200 to 1300 calories a day, and I believe you must be getting more than that, for that is a reducing number.

You are making one mistake though in not keeping up your exercises. Ten to fifteen minutes of vigorous physical exercise every day is one of the most important factors in maintaining normal health; if you were doing that, you could eat more.

Congratulations on your wonderful loss and thanks for letting us know about it. Those who missed the instructions for reducing and gaining may have them by sending a self-addressed envelope and ten cents in stamps.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Popular Bazaar

One of the most popular annual bazaars preceding the holiday season, is that given by St. Mark's Guild women. Dates for this year's event have been announced as November 20 and 21, when the women will hold a brilliant bazaar in the Guild hall. At the Guild meeting yesterday plans were made for the annual benefit affair, and time spent on working on articles for sale. Countless holiday gifts will be offered at the bazaar, as well as quilts, other practical articles for the home, and cooked food. Programs will be given each night. Admission is to be free. The Guild women are to motor to Alhambra next Tuesday to attend a "Thank You Party" at the home for the aged. The old folks are to have as their guests all who have contributed to their welfare and happiness. The Guild is to hold a cooked food sale beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Porter Furniture store on West Broadway at Orange street.

Hold Masquerade

Brilliant Hallowe'en and carnival decorations have been planned by the committee on decorations for the masquerade ball to be given tomorrow night by Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard. Mrs. Maude Evans is chairman of this committee, which includes Mesdames Clytelle Hewitt, Ella Joralemon, Grace Moore and Luella Emerick. Mrs. Warren Roberts, worthy high preistess, announces that tickets for the affair are in great demand, and the dance promises to be one of the largest and most enjoyable affairs given by the Shrine. There will be a program arranged by Evelyn G. Pierce, and dancing. Four prizes will be awarded, two for the prettiest costumes and two for the most typical. Refreshments will be served at a late hour.

I have always classed housekeepers in two great divisions—those who dominate their housekeeping, and those who let their housekeeping dominate them. The truly efficient housewife is she who has a free will. And by "free will" I mean she who is acting always as she wills to act, rather than being swayed this way and that by outside influences.

For example, I have a little Bride Friend who began her housekeeping by letting her daily duties dominate her. She would rush about in the mornings with a worried look on her pretty face, harassed by the thought that she would not get her ordering in early enough, or would not finish washing her breakfast dishes and do her cleaning in time to meet some particular appointment she had made. After a few months of this attitude, however, she suddenly changed completely. She had all at once discovered that she was breaking down by letting her housework put a strain upon her. Today she belongs to that class which dominates her housework.

After all, why shouldn't this principle of free will "work" in housekeeping as well as in any other line of activity? The man or woman who is really powerful in the world, is he or she who decides to do a thing before doing it—not he or she who does a thing because of emotion, or because a stronger will than his own has forced him to do it. Only by mastering ourselves can we really live worthily and progressively. And the housekeeper is not exempt from this law any more than any other worker. Her housekeeping success depends on her self-control. (And self-control depends on doing what we will to do, instead of merely obeying blind impulses or outside influences.)

Incidentally, neighborhood life is made more comfortable by following the dictates of our judgment rather than the dictates of our impulses! I know of a woman who used to sigh and say: "I'm always getting my foot into it, in some way! I am forever making rash remarks which make people dislike me. I do wish I were like Mrs. A, who is so discreet that she never takes a false step!"

It is needless to point out that this woman was in the class which is guided by chance influences rather than by the individual will. She did not realize that Mrs. A. was not merely "discreet." Discretion is the outgrowth of perfect control. Mrs. A. was master of herself. And that is what we must all be, before we can become successful housekeepers and home-makers.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER V

"I'm nineteen," she retorted. Surely that is old enough for anything. I am of age for the great passion itself, if only it would arrive, and arrive quickly. I believe I heard that croupier call out number fourteen. I know I shall end by besmirching my good name and borrowing a louis from you."

He laid a handful of notes upon the table beside them. She shook her head again.

"Don't tempt me," she begged. "Besides, I think I would rather talk. I am interested in the Princess. Tell me just how you are feeling about her."

"I couldn't," he confessed.

"Is she here without her husband?"

"Yes."

"Cat!" Of course she's come to flirt with you."

"I don't think so. I think she has come here with an altogether different purpose."

"What purpose?"

He smiled at her with affected tolerance.

"After all, you know," he said, "young people shouldn't be too curious."

She drew away from him petulantly.

"I wonder," she complained, "why you always persist in treating me as though I were a child."

"Well, aren't you?" he rejoined. "Nineteen isn't very old, you know."

"Anyway, if father can tell me things," she argued, "I don't see why you should be so secretive."

"What does your father tell you?"

"Nothing that I am going to repeat to you, Mr. Inquisitor. I will tell you this, though," she went on, dropping her voice a little. "He isn't at all happy about the way things are going over at Nice. Did you know that it was he who insisted upon sittings being suspended for a day, and that he and Arthur sent no less than twenty cables away last night."

"Yes, I knew," he admitted, "but I had no idea that you did."

She permitted herself a friendly little grimace.

"I only mentioned it just to show that every one doesn't ignore me as you do," she observed. "Here's Arthur. He's having a day off, isn't he?"

The young man came up and displayed a handful of plaques. He was good-looking in a pale, rather tired way.

"Why do I slave for your father, Lady Susan," he demanded, "for a vulgar pittance, when there are thousands to be picked up here without the slightest efforts?"

"Vulgar pittance!" she scoffed. "I'm sure Dad, or rather the country, pays you quite as much as you're worth. Besides, look at the number of free meals you get!"

"This to the private secretary of a Prime Minister!" the young man groaned. "Why, my dear child—"

"I'm nobody's 'dear child'!" she interrupted. "I am 'Lady Susan' to you two men, except perhaps after a dance, or in the moonlight, or on the river, when I feel yielding and let either of you call me 'Susan.' Please, get it into your heads that I am nobody's 'child.' In this age of flappers, nineteen is almost passe. I could be married tomorrow if I chose."

"Heaven forbid!" Arthur exclaimed. "At any rate unless it were to me.

"You'd have to change considerably before I'd marry either of you," she declared. "If you've won all those plaques, you can lend me one. You can get it out of father tonight."

"And you refused to borrow from me," Grant said reproachfully.

"Well, you see Arthur is one of the household," she explained, "and I don't feel the same way about him. Besides, I shall probably repay him in ten minutes. I feel that my luck is in."

She strolled off. The Honorable Arthur Lymane sank into her vacant place.

"You're coming up tonight, Slattery?"

"I'm dining."

"The chief wants to see you particularly," Lymane confided, dropping his voice. "He's already cabled to Washington. There's a damned funny atmosphere about the proceedings at Nice this time. Nothing that amounts to anything without doubt, but every one seems to be so jolly mysterious."

"Is that so?" Grant murmured.

"The Chief took the bull by the horns yesterday when he suspended sittings for twenty-four hours. It gives us a breathing spell, anyway."

"Have you any idea what's at the bottom of it all?" Grant asked.

His companion shook his head.

"The Chief will talk to you tonight. He may be more communicative with you than he has been with me. By Jove! Grant, old fellow!" he exclaimed, his tone suddenly changing to one of wondering admiration. "There's the most beautiful woman I've ever seen in my life. Coming straight at us, too."

The young man had already risen to his feet as though about to take his departure, but, as Gertrude crossed the room towards them, he remained transfixed, watching her. His look was no ordinary stare. The admiration it expressed was, in its way, too subtle and too involuntary.

"She's coming straight at us," he repeated, in an agitated whisper. "For heaven's sake, if you know her, Slattery, present me."

Gertrude, smiling, came toward them. She seemed already to appreciate the situation. Grant rose to his feet.

"Congratulate me!" she exclaimed. "I've won thirty thousand francs."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

Tonight, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night will be the last opportunities to see the Dobinson players in Booth Tarkington's wholesome comedy of small town life, "The Country Cousin," says Miss Eva Daniels, business manager, urging Glendale theater goers not to miss this play. It is presented at the Tuesday Afternoon club theater, 8:15 o'clock at night, with a 2:30 o'clock matinee Saturday, October 25.

John Vosburgh as George Tewksberry Reynolds III, causes a burst of laughter at each entrance. Eleanor Howitt, the little country girl, looking for life and finding it not so good, is interpreted with finesse by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh.

Miss Gertrude Keller gives a splendid performance in the role of the old maid cousin. Miss Rosamonde Joyzelle, as Mrs. Howitt, portrays her role splendidly. Richard Ehlers as Sam Wilson, who intends to be at least a senator of these United States, is so well done that even the audience is with him. William S. Stephens, George C. Pearce, Thyra Ruhland, Carroll Nye, Arthur Lovejoy, Gertrude Rothe and Harry Glazier all fill their roles well.

THE T. D. & L.

"Wine of Youth" opens today at the T. D. & L. theater.

THE GLENDALE

Hoot Gibson in "Broadway or Bust" opens today at the Glendale theater.

GATEWAY THEATRE

Madge Bellamy, one of the screen's most beautiful girls, who plays a clever role in "The Fire Patrol," has had a unique career. Some fairy endowed her with the art of mimicry and she began to display her pantomimic talent just before she could talk.

Miss Bellamy made her stage debut in New York at the tender age of 5 under the supervision of her father, a university professor of literature.

The family moved to Denver and then to San Antonio, Texas, where Miss Bellamy studied at St. Mary's hall. When she was 15, there came an interruption to her student life and she was recalled to New York to appear in an actors' benefit performance. The winsome miss of the brown eyes and golden hair did so well that she attracted the notice of Daniel Frohman, who gave her a letter to George Tyler.

After hearing her read the part of Pollyanna in the play of that name, Tyler cast Miss Bellamy in the title role, in which she toured the large cities of the east so successfully that the company was recalled for return engagements.

Miss Bellamy yielded to the lure of the silver sheet and made her cinema debut as leading woman in "The Cup of Life."

Her work in "The Fire Patrol" which is now playing at the Gateway theater today and Saturday, marks her as a wonderfully versatile actress, for the role is a most difficult one.

MURPHY COMEDIANS

Murphy's Comedians No. 2 are "making 'em all laugh," is the way Manager J. W. Davis of this hilarious company expresses the success of "Girl From Home," now going over to a packed house nightly at the big tent theater on San Fernando boulevard at Cedar street, Burbank, "so close to Glendale you couldn't tell the difference without calipers," he says.

A special feature of the show is Wally Perrin's jazz orchestra, whose euphonious tinkle is well known in these parts, Mr. Davis states. The tent is open from 7:15 on, and the curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock.

Murphy's Comedians have proved to Glendale theater-goers that they know how to put over real entertainment, and in the long list of successes to their credit during their six months in this locality, they feel, and are confident hundreds of local people will follow them to their new location.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY BEATS A RUG

"Come back here, Uncle Wiggily! Come right back here, if you please!" called a voice after the bunny rabbit gentleman one day, as he went hopping and skipping down the front walk.

"Well, now," said Mr. Longears to himself as he smiled beneath his pink, twinkling nose, "if I hadn't heard that word 'please' I would say it was the Bob Cat or Fox calling to me. But they never say 'please,' so this must be one of my polite friends."

And it turned out to be Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy who was asking Uncle Wiggily to come back.

"What do you want, if you will be so kind as to tell me?" politely asked the bunny, when he saw his muskrat lady housekeeper waving her paw at him from the front steps.

"Will you please come back and beat a rug for me before you go adventuring?" asked Nurse Jane.

"Of course I'll beat a rug for you," offered the rabbit. "Which one shall I knock the dust out of?"

"The parlor rug, if you will be so kind," spoke Nurse Jane. "Mrs. Wibblewobble, the lady duck, is coming over to visit me. If there happened to be any dust in the rug she would sneeze kersnitzio, and I wouldn't like that."

"Nor I, either," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll beat the rug for you."

The rabbit gentleman dragged the parlor rug out on the grass behind his hollow stump bungalow. Spreading the rug smoothly, Mr. Longears took his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch and began to pound the dust out of the square of carpet.

"Whack! Whack! Bangity-bung-bing!" went the crutch on the rug. Up out of the rug rose clouds of dust which the wind blew away.

Now it happened that the Fuzzy Fox was passing that way. And as the Fox saw Uncle Wiggily beating the rug and saw the clouds of dust the Fox said to himself:

"Ah, ha! Uncle Wiggily is so busy beating the rug that he will not see me if I slip up behind him and nibble his ears. The clouds of rug dust will hide me! This will be a good chance for me to catch him!"

Watching the rabbit, to make sure he didn't turn around, the Fox slipped up to the yard, jumped over the fence and reached out his paws to catch Uncle Wiggily.

But, just then, Mr. Longears looked behind him. He saw the Fox coming:

"Oh, ho! I know what you want!" shouted the bunny. "You want my ears, but you are not going to get them!"

With that Uncle Wiggily raised up one edge of the rug on the grass and crawled beneath it. He thought he could thus hide from the Fox.

"Two can play at that game!" barked the bad Fox. He raised up the rug as the rabbit had done, and ran underneath it, chasing the bunny.

But do you suppose Uncle Wiggily stayed under the rug to be caught? I should say not—indeed, no! Out on the other side of the rug and from beneath it, hopped the bunny.

The Fox tried to run out from beneath the rug, too, but he wasn't quick enough. The rug was humped up in the middle, where the Fox was trying to push his way out.

"Ha! Ha!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I'm going to beat the Fox underneath the rug. I'll beat both at the same time! Hurray!"

"Whack! Bang! Whack!" went Uncle Wiggily's crutch on the rug and on the Fox under it.

"Ouchie! Wowchie! Kersnitzio!" sneezed the Fox as the rug dust flew up his nose. "Let me out! Let me out!"

"Wait until I beat you a bit more!" laughed the bunny. And again he whacked the rug until the Fox was glad enough to run out and go home, nibbling no ears that day. And if the nutpick doesn't take all the oranges off the top of the gooseberry cake and feed them to the gold fish I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the flippy curtain.

M'NEELY DONS GLENDALE SUIT FOR TWO GAMES

PLAYS HERE WITH SOX SUNDAY

World Series Star In Local Lineup Saturday Against St. Louis Giants

Earl McNeely tomorrow will don a Glendale White Sox suit and will play with the local line-up against the St. Louis Giants at Goodyear park in Los Angeles.

This will be the first game the world series star has played since he broke up a 12-inning contest with a single that drove in the winning run and enabled Washington to claim the championship after a memorable struggle with the New York Giants.

Sunday McNeely will again appear in a Glendale uniform, playing with the White Sox here against the Hollywood Merchants, an all-professional aggregation Floyd Carleton is bringing over from the Movie Cty.

It will be "McNeely Day" in Glendale, and all loyal baseball fans of this city and surrounding territory will turn out to pay tribute to the stellar outfielder of the world champions.

Penner to Pitch

On the mound for the local team Sunday will be Ken Penner, who has been signed by Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox, to play the winter league season with the pale hose crew. Penner hung up a number of victories last season while hurling for the Vernon team in the Pacific Coast league.

Saturday Dick Bonelly, who hurled last season for the Kansas City Blues, will do the mound work for the White Sox against the St. Louis Giants. Bonelly has hurled several games for the White Sox since being signed up for the winter season.

Stars in Lineup

Included in the White Sox lineup will be such stars as McNeely, Ping Bodie, hard-hitting outfielder who has put in 15 years in big-time baseball circles; Ray French, sensational shortstop of three leagues; "Chicken" Hawks, stellar first baseman with long experience on leading clubs; Denny Murphy, who did a heavy part of the catching for Vernon; Bill Shields, who is known to all Glendale ball fans; Pfahler of the Catalina Cubs, and others.

Box seats for Sunday's contest are selling fact, Boss Kerwin reports. The Kiwanis club has taken a box, and the Exchange club members will occupy another. Several other service clubs will have large representations at the game. Indications of a record turnout at both games are seen, it is said. A large force of fans will come to Glendale from Hollywood to root for Carleton's crew.

Hollywood Strong

The Washington stellar outfielder will lead off the batting list, Owner Kerwin has announced, with Ping Bodie in clean-up position. The Hollywood lineup has not been announced, but Carleton has assured Boss Kerwin that he will bring a galaxy of Coast league, American league and National league stars to Glendale, presenting a strong team.

Many Glendale baseball fans are going to Goodyear park tomorrow afternoon to see McNeely in his first game with the local club. The St. Louis Giants represent the pick of the colored teams of the United States and hold the diamond championship in colored baseball players' circles.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Can Chicago stop Illinois. This is the question being asked throughout the conference. Of course some such rival as Iowa or Ohio State may turn the trick, but at the moment, Chicago seems to be in the limelight as the chief opponent of Illinois.

It now seems clear that the Maroons are coming up to their important games with a standard Chicago eleven. That means, of course, a really fine team. The center problem has been solved by playing Gowdy as offensive center and defensive tackle. Lampe's loss at end has been discounted by the game Barto and Long are playing. In the backfield John Thomas, Zorn and Pyott are greatly missed, but Harry Thomas has never been playing a better game in the backfield.

The team will come into important games, as said above, as a standard Chicago eleven—but not one of those Stagg-coached outfits of whom everybody asks "Who can possibly beat them?" Just a good football combination, that's all.

What use are scouts anyway? Glenn Killinger saw Georgia Tech play two games preceding the Penn State contest and then reported to Atlantas in general and Bezdek in particular that the Pennsylvanians would walk over the Yellow Jackets.

When the game was played it was found that contrary to Killinger's best information and belief Tech assumed the pedestrian role while Penn State played the part of the royal Bokhara rug.

Some brilliant backs have already dashed into the foreground of football fame. Grange of course. Crowley and Miller of Notre Dame. Lindley of Yale. Edgar Jones and Ark Newton of Florida are standing out in the south, while Wyckoff of Georgia Tech is regarded by discriminating observers as the best fullback the south has produced in a decade. Pease of Columbia is another.

It is curious to note how rare events on the gridiron are likely to happen on the same day. Grange of Illinois and Pease of Columbia both made the rare play of running for touchdowns from the opening kickoff on Saturday. Twelve or more years ago Princeton defeated Dartmouth by a drop kick which rolled along the ground and bounded over the goal. That same thing happened that day in West Virginia.

Last Saturday Princeton dropkicked, the ball struck a Navy man and bounded over the goal. The same thing happened in southern Illinois the same day.

"Where are the ends this year?" asked Bert Baston, the two year All-American end of Minnesota, of the writer the other day. "I have not seen any."

No one else has—not many at least. Rokusek, of Illinois, Stout of Princeton and Luman of Yale look good to the writer. Dr. Wilce of Ohio State likes Otte and Romey the Iowa ends, says they are very good indeed.

Ends are scarce for one thing because of modern demands on their skill and strength. They have three times as much to do as wing men used to have. Weight combined with speed is getting to be more and more a prime consideration.

Illinois Corn Crop Below 1923 Figures

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 24.—According to latest figures the Illinois corn crop this year will total 279,819,000 bushels, or 57,000,000 bushels under that of 1923 and 37,000,000 under the average crop.

HARVARD BOASTS OLD-TIMES SQUAD

Players of Mahan, Brickley, Hardwick Type Seen In 1924 Grid Team

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 24.—The golden days of Harvard's greatness, the days of Mahan, Brickley, Hardwick, et al., when a tie game was a tragedy and a defeat not to be tolerated, are to be exhumed and made to live again by the 1924 football team, in the fond expectations of all who are in touch with gridiron affairs at the stadium. Harvard's guns are cocked, primed and loaded. It really believes that it has its greatest team since the late unpleasantness in Europe.

No stars, understand. Just eleven men, playing football for sixty minutes of the hour, and eleven more to take their places in case they don't. That, we are given to understand, is quite a departure from the activities, if any, of some of the young men who played football at Harvard last season.

"I wouldn't say my men failed to give their best last year," Bob Fisher told the writer today. "But they were certain of their places and their attitude was psychological. There is none of that this year. In fact, I think I have the best Harvard team since the war and that's quite something.

Second String Class

"The other day, Nash, a regular tackle, was hurt. He returned to the squad several days later and is just as good a player as he always was. Yet Nash is now on my second team. Lindner, the man who filled in for him, has done so well that I can't afford to take him out. Cody is another tackle who has come on so fast that I don't see how I can keep him off the team. Yet I can't fire Greenough, my captain, to give him a place."

But, it seems that forwards are not Harvard's only superfluity. In Cheek, Miller, Gherke and Hammond, it has four backs who can kick, run and pass almost equally well, and there you have another Harvard novelty. A ball running quarterback hasn't been seen on a stadium team during the modern era. Cheek is the young man.

"We decided to abandon the non-running quarterback the minute we saw Cheek in action," Fisher declared. "We now have eleven men playing football, instead of ten men and a pilot. Cheek is an honor man in his classes, knows football thoroughly and is robust enough to take the pounding when he runs with the ball and still think clearly on the following play."

This is the only Harvard novelty, with the exception of the fact that their sleight-of-hand backfield maneuvers, now used by Notre Dame, are no more at Cambridge.

Dartmouth Feared

"They won't do except against a dumb defense," was Fisher's succinct way of putting it.

Otherwise, he is using the same system of offense with plays run from an unbalanced line, of which Bradford, 1923 substitute, and Daley, former Andover captain, are integral parts. They have been made into a fine pair of guards and in case either or both should flop, Kilgour, Daniel, Laimbeer and Theopold are within range of Fisher's mellow baritone.

The ends are a bit to the falsetto, thanks to the fact that Jim Combs was declared ineligible. Chase, a 1923 substitute, and Robb, a track team sprinter, look fairly good, but not too much better than Dean, Baldwin and Hitch, a 180 pounder. You hear much of Gherke, 1922 star, who has returned to the backfield; of Hammond, whom Fisher thinks is the best punter in football. But the hot tip is to watch Miller, a 200 pounder and extremely fast. He is expected to run amuck in the big games to come.

"What team do you fear most?" the writer asked Fisher.

"Dartmouth," was the reply. "I understand the Green is absolutely set to beat us. But Saturday will tell that story."

TO-NIGHT'S CARD

In addition to a bantamweight tournament which will bring together Teddy Silva and Georgia Rivers, Earl McNeely, stellar outfielder of the Washington Senators, is scheduled to appear at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight. Silva and Rivers will determine who shall stay in the tournament and McNeely will bow and be presented with a wrist watch by the post.

The semi-windup looks like a battle of whiffs and the man with the hardest whiff will win. Mickey Rockson and Bert Tribby, a couple of socking scrappers, are due to present the bloody battle. Johnny Mendes, making his bow before Hollywood fans, will meet Bud Soules. Joe Kelly and Benny Irwin mingle at 145 pounds. Billy Young and Sailor Fernandez will step at 130 pounds. Young Lanny and Billy Blake will do their stuff at 120 pounds and Eddie West and Cecil Roller are billed for four rounds at 138 pounds.

WALTER CAMP SAYS

Special Correspondent of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The football season of 1924 does not promise to be a particularly brilliant one for any of the "Big Three" of the east—Yale, Harvard and Princeton. All have lost good men and the writer does not look for any of the Big Three to be as strong as last season. But as each has been hit in a similar way, the relative standings have not been materially altered so far.

This is Bill Roper's last year at Princeton and he naturally will make every effort to make it a successful one. The Princeton team did a fairly good job in the Navy contest last Saturday—a big improvement over its showing against Lehigh. But Princeton has been running too much to individual, rather than team attack, and it will take some bolstering to make it a united and deceptive one.

Harvard has been threatening for two seasons to alter its attack, but there has been little evidence so far of change. It was said that the Crimson would show Yale something new in the last game of 1923, but, unfortunately, a downpour of rain prevented either team from showing anything except ability to slide about in the mud. Nobody knows what Fisher is preparing to offer, but he is certainly planning a campaign in which the quarterback will be something more than a signal caller.

Yale, last year's Big Three champion, under Tad Jones loosened up her line and broadened the radius of her attack, with the result that she overwhelmed the Army and Princeton with this kind of warfare, building original methods on the old line divide which was one of the Jones' most effective weapons when he was quarterback on the Yale team. So far Yale's showing this season has not been impressive but the punting has improved and there was certainly plenty of fight displayed in the stand the Bulldog made against Dartmouth on its own two-yard line.

Dartmouth, under Jesse Hawley and Cannell, celebrated the renewal of football relations with Yale with a game from which Yale was lucky to emerge with a tie. Oberlander is the Green Mountain boy's big threat in the backfield, but Hall also proved a great backfield runner in that Yale game.

Cornell has the principal part of last year's veteran line, but Coach Dobie and George Pfann have not been able to develop a backfield to hinge around Patterson. Hence their defeats by Williams and Rutgers.

Boston College, irritated a bit at the hands of Marquette, is going out for real work under Cavanaugh and Holy Cross is making a good showing this year.

Columbia is still the question mark of the east. What Percy Haughton is able to do on Morningside Heights will be watched with great interest especially in view of renewed rumors that Haughton may go back to Harvard. His defeat by Penn was no disgrace and the Blue and White showed up very creditably.

Williams is out to win again the championship of the "Little Three"—Williams, Wesleyan and Amherst—and has opened the season well by defeating Cornell.

BOWLING SCORES

The Smokehousers beat the Central Cleaners and the Army Store downed the Barbers in the opening matches of the Mercantile league, which were played last night at the Recreation alleys. Whaley of the Cleaners was high score man, rolling 226. The Smokehouse crew, under the direction of Paul Leuthner, proprietor, took two of the three games. The Barbers dropped the three games of their match to the storekeepers. The scores:

STANFORD-IDAHO GAME HOLDS SPOT

Cardinals and Vandals Meet Tomorrow Afternoon on Portland Field

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—The pendulum of Pacific coast football interest this week swung northward to Portland, where Pop Warner's Stanford proteges will meet their most severe test so far this season in the fast-coming University of Idaho eleven.

Idaho has been preparing for the Cardinal game with the aim of establishing its place in the western football sun through its performance against the invading red shirts. Reports indicate that Coach R. L. Matthews will send a light, fast, well-coached team against Stanford and will spring an aerial game on the California eleven.

Chanting their slogan of "Last to win from California; first to win again," the Washington State squad arrived in Berkeley today in readiness for its encounter tomorrow with the Golden Bears. It was in 1919 that the Cougars trimmed Andy Smith's eleven to the tune of 14 to 0. Indications were that Coach Exendine would send his team into play with instructions to take the offensive on every possible occasion, depending on a slashing attack to give his team the breaks rather than playing a defensive game.

Cardinals Are Picked To Win Tomorrow

PORTLAND, Oct. 24.—Can Idaho beat Stanford? Fans today found that question the absorbing one at a half dozen hotel lobbies and clubs as "Pop" Warner's big Cardinal squad and the Vandals from Idaho tuned up their machines on Multnomah field for their game tomorrow afternoon.

A bitter contest, with either team accorded a fine chance, but with Stanford given a slight edge! That was the pre-game opinion of the majority who were willing to venture a guess and risk a few dollars.

Stanford will outweigh Idaho and the Vandals hope for a dry day, which by mutual agreement, will result in the sawdust being scraped from Multnomah field. Idaho figures its forward line can cope with Stanford's and that its backfield, led by Skippy Stivers, has more speed than the Cardinal four. It is unlikely that Ernie Nevers will get into the game, Coach Warner stated today.

TENNIS TOURNEY OPENS NEXT WEEK

Three Divisions Formed by Service Clubs, Business Firms and Banks

Play in the Community Service tennis tournament will start next week after drawings have been made in the three divisions, it was announced today by R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of municipal recreation. The divisions were organized this week and members of the various teams are getting in shape for the meet.

There are six teams entered in each division, with the exception of the Bankers' division, which has seven teams. Only doubles will be played at the present time and a tournament of singles may follow, it is said. The tournament will be played in the forms of a round robin, with the winners of each division meeting to determine the city championship.

Teams in the Service Clubs division are: Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Optimist, Exchange and Realty board. In the Bankers division are: Pacific Southwest, Glendale State, Federal, Brand boulevard branch; Pacific, Glendale avenue branch, Glendale Savings, Security and First National. In the Business division there will be teams from the Glendale Evening News, the Gleadale Daily Press, Glendale Florist, Piggly Wiggly, Newton's Electric and Webbs' store.

Rules call for two games in each division every week until the round has been completed. Appropriate trophies will be awarded winners in each division, with a trophy for the city champions at the end of the meet.

Merchandise usually carried by airplanes from Cologne to London consists of cutlery, surgical instruments, ladies patent leather and silk shoes and ladies' wearing apparel, particularly silk goods.

FOOTBALL

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The local lightweight eleven gained a better hold on the 130-pound football pennant by vanquishing the Monrovia lightweights, 21-0, yesterday on Broadway field. After the first quarter was ten minutes old the result of the game was not in doubt. The Monrovia boys found the Dynamiter line a stone wall, while the locals were able to penetrate their opponents' defense for consistent gains.

After exchanging punts during the first part of the first quarter the Glendale eleven got started and marched down the field. Stuart made a spectacular run around right end for thirty yards and with the ball on the Monrovia thirty-eight yard line the locals made yards twice, two eight-yard line bucks by Harris being the main factors. Harris made four yards off tackle from the Monrovia eleven-yard line and three more through center just before the whistle blew.

In the second quarter Harris registered the first tally with a five-yard line buck and converted. The Dynamiters kicked and forced Monrovia to kick. Thompson reeled off seventeen yards around right end and Harris made nine yards around the other wing. Stuart made eight yards off tackle and then Stuart carried the ball across for Glendale's second touchdown. Harris again booted goal.

The third quarter was mostly a punting duel with Harris having the best of it. The last touchdown came in the final minute of play. Thomas, Monrovia fullback, was slow in getting a kick away and the locals blocked the punt. Porter Thompson ran after the ball and fell on it on the Monrovia one-yard line. Harris kicked goal just as the final whistle blew. The lineup:

FOOTBALL, RACING SUNDAY AT ASCOT

Seventeen Noted Drivers of Eastern Tracks to Be In Ten Events

Seventeen noted eastern auto and motorbike racing stars will be in the lineup at Ascot speedway on Sunday afternoon when the winter weekly racing schedule is resumed.

In addition to ten speed events on the card, a foot-ball game will be staged between the San Bernardino American Legion team and the 160th Regiment eleven. Colonel Story, his staff and the regimental band, will accompany the army team to Ascot.

The regular Ascot stars, Frank Lockhart, Cliff Bergere and Gus Schrader, will have to give battle to some of the hardest driving pilots of the mid-west and eastern tracks. "Les" Allen, Fred Lecklider, "Fuzzy" Davidson, Jack Petticord, "Curly" Young, George Beck and Ralph Ormsby, Indiana state champion, are some of the drivers.

The football game will be called at 2:30 o'clock, with the Italian Victory Crown Dash, the first auto race on the program, will start at 3 o'clock.

"Cannonball" Baker, internationally famous trans-continental record breaker and stunt driver, will drive his number one Jewett car over the $52,000 Thanksgiving Day road race course in an exhibition.

404 BURCHETT

This attractive almost new 5-room stucco bungalow, lot, location, surroundings, big palm trees, lawn and garden, are worth $8000; in fact to buy the lot, make the improvements it would cost nearly $8000 if you had all cash to work with.

PRICE CUT TO $6950

DIRECT FROM OWNER AND ON TERMS

Conditions make it imperative that I sell at once and without delay or usual price dickering. I have cut the price over $1000 in one big slash; and remember, please, this cut is not made on a piece of property away out with a big boom value, but on a close-in high grade, coming location; cut to away under cost of producing at present market. $4850 of this low price of $6950 is 7 pct. money which a reduction of $50 a month carries, leaving $2100 equity, payable $950 cash, $600 Feb., 1925 and $600 Aug., 1925; I will be at the house any time or phone Glen. 4258, no trades considered.

HAVE OWN CITIES

ATHENS, Oct. 24.—A unique educational experiment, begun several months ago at the American Near East Relief orphanage in Syra, Greece, has attracted favorable comment from the Greek newspapers. Three hundred older boys from the institution have been permitted to establish their own self-governing town on land adjoining the orphanage. Each boy has his own small house, made of mud like the native houses, with his own vegetable garden. The town has its mayor, chief of police, sanitary officers and courts elected by its citizens. The supreme court, with five judges, recently convicted one of its citizens of petty larceny. The court revoked his rights of citizenship, ordered his house destroyed, and as additional punishment condemned him to wear for four days a placard bearing the inscription: "I am a thief."

PARIS SEES OLD U. S. CAKE WALK

Moscow Ballet Troupe Please Parisian Audiences With Ancient Dance Step

PARIS, Oct. 24.—A real American cake-walk is a feature of the Russian ballet troupe from Moscow now delighting Paris audiences. It is headed by Madame Artsiboucheva, of the famous Moscow ballet, and makes one think not a little of the "Chauve Souris" of Balieff. The couple also who danced the cake-walk took on rather an air of Paris apaches, wearing long purple velvet sheaths with gay chiffon ruffles, but they produced a good interpretation of almost modern dancing.

The clever Futurist scene that followed it is probably the gem of the collection, glorifying the muscles of the Amazonian girl of tomorrow who, in this instance, resembles very much Sis Hopkins, with her bobbing top-knot. Her movements may be called dancing if certain Futurist paintings are called "art."

All Times Included

Beginning with ancient Egypt, this little group of Russian artists passes from classic through medieval and then to modern times and distinguish themselves by the gay music and attractive costumes in Batik shades and patterns. There is a "Dance of the Crinolines" with the inevitable wooden soldiers and two charming "dolls" with jointed movements and a clever "Mirror Dance," which, of course, has no mirror at all but consists of two twin-like dancers doing exactly the same things at the same time.

The ballet is really remarkable in that it has so little real dancing. The artistic poses and clever costumes combined with some excellent singing and playing make it possible to see a charming bit of Russia in Paris.

Uncle Sam Will Build California Highways

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 24.—The hundred miles of highway comprising thirteen forest road projects, have been undertaken in California with funds supplied by the United States Forest Service, the State Highway commission announced. Construction of seven of these roads will be financed entirely from the federal treasury, but the state is contributing its pro-rata toward completion of the remaining six. Expenditures to date on forest roads total $3,456,811.

A child weighing 100 pounds carries three and one-third pounds of lime, 99 per cent of which is found in his bones and teeth.

Political Pulse

Editor's Note—This is the twelfth of a series of articles written by A. S. Hall, of The Glendale Evening News editorial staff, dealing with the political situation in Central and Middle West States, and in the South and Southwest. Material for this series was gathered by Mr. Hall on a tour of 6000 miles through Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. The next article of the series to appear in The Glendale Evening News will be: "When Laboring Men Speak Their Mind."

XII—UPSETS ADD INTEREST TO CAMPAIGN

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

This might have been a quiet campaign year in the United States if Bob La Follette had not become ambitious, and it might have been equally as serene in Iowa—"Where the Tall Corn Grows"—if it hadn't been for upsets.

Just as the entrance of the Wisconsin senator into the presidential race has caused more political speeches, just so has the tactics of United States Senator S. W. Brookhart, from Iowa, caused an unusual verbal barrage to be laid down.

Brookhart has been doing a lot of the bombarding himself, but his opponents and even some members of his own party have stood by their guns and fired charge after charge upon the slightest chance.

Brookhart's Upset

What really started this upset business in Iowa, according to observations made in that state recently, was the flop of Brookhart from the prescribed Republican party policies. Brookhart's full name, by the way, is Smith Wildman Brookhart, and he has been living up to his middle name, political leaders in the corn state insist.

Shortly after he was nominated as candidate for Congress by the Republican party, Brookhart turned a back handspring and came up smiling, saying "I'm for La Follette," or words to that effect. Another flipflop and he demanded Dawes withdraw from the race.

One turn deserves another, perhaps, good or bad, so Brookhart did another flipflop and accused Coolidge of being a tool of Wall street. To add more interest to his activities he announced that if the election were thrown into the House, he would vote for Charles Bryan for president.

Kenyon's Upset

Since upsets were the order of the day, Judge Kenyon of the federal bench, supplied the next one. Brookhart called upon Judge Kenyon at Fort Dodge, according to information gathered by the writer, and asked Kenyon to resign from the bench and stump the state for the senatorial candidate.

Brookhart is said to have left Fort Dodge convinced that Kenyon would do this very thing, but a few days later it was said the judge would support Coolidge and Dawes. Kenyon denied this, saying he was not in politics, but it is known he is not urging Iowa voters to cast their ballots for La Follette, as Brookhart is said to have asked him to do.

The Republican state committee stepped into the upsetting business about this time, it is said, and withdrew all aid of the party from Brookhart. The Republican party leaders in Iowa today are urging their followers to vote for Dan Steck, Democratic candidate for the office Brookhart seeks, after Luther Brewster filed as an independent candidate and withdrew.

Presidential Race

Iowa is one of the seventeen doubtful states, the "battlefield of the 1924 campaign," the writer learned. The fight, it is clearly seen, is between Coolidge and La Follette. Even the Democrats of the state concede this to be a fact.

Parts of Iowa, and particularly the southeastern section around Davenport and Muscatine, and even extending up the Mississippi river as far as Clinton and Dubuque, are heavily populated by Germans and these people have voted the Socialist ticket strong in municipal elections. They did before the war and they have been voting that way since. The writer has lived in Iowa several years and knows this to be a fact.

It is to be expected, in view of these facts, that La Follette will poll a heavy vote in Iowa, inasmuch as he will get the support of the German Socialist in Iowa; he will also get the support of a number of Republicans who will stick with Brookhart, and he will draw heavily from the Democratic party, many of whom believe that Brookhart would not have attacked Dawes unless he saw that the Progressive movement was popular.

In Northwest Iowa

La Follette will not do so well in northwest Iowa as he will in eastern and southeastern Iowa. It is true a fair sized percentage of the voters in northwest Iowa, particularly around Sioux City, are leaning towards the Socialistic element.

Dante Pierce, who is La Follette's campaign manager in Iowa, is an extremely capable man, according to political observers. He has built up a strong machine throughout the state, one that has caused the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties considerable worry and anxiety.

Coolidge will get the vote of a large per cent of the farmers, observations indicate. He is strong in the western and southwestern part of the state, and rated fair to good in the central part. Davis will get a lot of votes, but not enough to put him in second place in the state.

The voters of the state might provide the next upset when the election is held November 4, but for the present, the state where the tall corn grows, as the American Legion delegates from Iowa insist upon telling everybody at the national conventions, is a mighty warm battlefield.

Wholesale prices of commodities in Germany are now about 50 per cent higher than before the war.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Oct. 24. — Two amendments to the constitution of the community church are expected to be voted on next Sunday by the members. One provides for reception of new members by the pastor on his judgment at any time, eliminating the present rule for receiving members only at stated intervals on the vote of the church board officials. A second amendment proposes the consolidation of the financial and governing boards.

Proposition No. 16, the light and power act on the coming November election ballot, was officially denounced by the Valley Center Improvement league at the last meeting of that organization. President Kirschman of the league made a vigorous speech against the act and recommended its defeat by the voters. A location for the proposed junior high school for the district was discussed. A report was made by Mr. Henry that M. V. Hartranft and Mr. Bernhardt, property owners, had agreed to give twenty-five feet of their property for the extension of a street through the Lazy Lonesome tract west from Sherman avenue. Home-made doughnuts and sweet cider from apples grown on the Henry property were served before the meeting adjourned.

A public mass meeting will be held Saturday, November 1, at 7:30 p. m., at the Monte Vista school auditorium for the purpose of discussing amendments to be submitted at the November election.

A supper and entertainment will be given tonight at the Monte Vista school house by the P.-T. A., to which all are invited.

Tujunga Masonic lodge No. 592 has received its charter and officers have been installed. Next Monday night the new lodge will confer the third degree on eligible candidates. A. H. Fink, H. H. Fraser and Orley Segner attended the recent grand lodge meeting.

The Tujunga Valley theater on Saturday re-opens its doors to the public following a brief dark interval during which the property management has reverted to Ralph Peronnet, the lessor having defaulted the terms of the contract. "The Red Lily" will be the opening picture to be followed by "For Sale" and "Little Robinson Crusoe."

R. K. Hamilton has returned from San Jose with his Blue Bird racer which finished second in the races held Sunday at the northern course.

A pressure regulator has been installed in the new eight-inch gas main at Sunset and Michigan avenues. The gas company expects to soon make service house connections.

Tonight at the school auditorium, 8 o'clock, there will be community singing under auspices of the Parent-Teacher association.

The Ladies' Aid of the community church Saturday noon will serve a cafeteria lunch in the church basement. Mrs. Drake, Mrs. George, Mrs. Jepson, Mrs. Livingstone, Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Stewart comprise the committee in charge.

Several new members were accepted at the last meeting of the Rainbow club.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Savage, former residents of Glendale, are parents of an eight-pound son born in Glendale this week.

Annual Charity Ball Gets Elks' Attention

Plans for social and fraternal events during the next six weeks were made at the regular officers' meeting of the Glendale Elks lodge last night. Preparations for the annual charity ball, November 25, at Tuesday Afternoon club, will occupy the attention of officers and committee during the next month. Proceeds will go to the lodge charity fund. On the night preceding the ball, the annual turkey raffle will take place. Annual observance of memorial day will be December 7, details to be announced later. Other events on the Elks' calendar are regular meeting, November 3; balloting on members, November 10; initiation, November 17.

Bus Transportation In Minnesota Leads

ST. PAUL, Oct. 24.—Minnesota is crowding other states for premier honors in bus transportation. Preliminary reports indicate that the 1923 record of nine million passengers will be exceeded this year by 10 to 15 per cent. About 150 busses daily are operated out of the Twin Cities alone.
